VOL. 61. NO. 201. ST. LOUIS, TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 9, 1909. PRICE ONE CENT

DECKER, BOODLE DELEGATE, MUST SERVE 5 YEARS

Supreme Court Upholds Penitentiary Sentence of Eleventh Ward Man.

LOSES 7 YEARS' FIGHT

Prosecuted by Folk and Later by Sager in Green County, Mo.

LAST CASE OF CRUSADE

Former Fugitive Arrested at His Home on Veiled Prophet's Night, 1902.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 9.—After seven years' fight to escape going to prison for bribery, Louis Decker, one of the members of the House of Delegates combine indicted while Folk was Circuit Attorney, must now serve a five-years' sentence. The Supreme Court today affirmed this sentence passed upon him in 1906 in the Greene County Circuit Court.

Decker is the eighth member of the Municipal Assembly to get a prison term as a result of Circuit Attorney Folk's crusade. The other seven were sent up long ago. All have completed their terms and are again at liberty. Decker will not have the company of any of his legislative associates while in the penitentiary.

His sentence, five years, is the third longest, in the series of bribery convictions. Julius Lehmann got seven years and Emil Hartmann six.

Decker was indicted for bribery in connection with the granting of a franchise to the Suburban Railway. He was a member of the House combine which made the deal with Philip Stock, legislative agent, and Charles H. Turner, president of the Suburban, and these two men were State's witnesses against him.

Captured Veiled Prophet's Night.

For some time after the other members of the combine were arrested Decker, who was a liveryman and represented the Eleventh Ward in the House, was a fugitive. He was captured at his home Veiled Prophet's night, 1902, when he returned there, thinking the police would all be detailed downtown to watch the crowds.

His first trial was conducted by Circuit Attorney Folk in April, 1903, in St. Louis. He was convicted and given two years' sentence, but got a new trial.

Sager Also Prosecutes.

He then obtained a change of venue from St. Louis to Springfield and his case was called there for trial a few days after the race riots and lynchings. Circuit Attorney Folk had been succeeded by Mr. Sager, who conducted the trial.

Decker at once sought a new trial. It was denied by Judge Lincoln of the Greene County court and Decker appealed to the Supreme Court. It is on this appeal that the Supreme Court acted in its decision today.

Decker is the only boodle legislator, indicted under Circuit Attorney Folk, whom Circuit Attorney Sager succeeded in sending to the penitentiary.

"In the ordinary course of procedure, the Marshal of the Supreme Court will come to St. Louis at once to take Decker to the penitentiary," said Former Circuit Attorney Sager. "Though Decker has 10 days in which to file a motion for a rehearing he must go to the penitentiary now whether he files that motion or not."

Decker could not be found at either of his livery stables when an effort was made to obtain a statement from him Tuesday.

GOVERNMENT IS HIT HARD IN STANDARD OIL RETRIAL

CHICAGO, March 9.—The Government's case in the retrial of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, which so far has fared unfortunately in Judge Anderson's court, narrowly avoided a death blow today. Judge Anderson, who is following the rulings of the Court of Appeals with unvarying fidelity, held that the Government must prove, as alleged in the indictment, that there was a standard rate for oil shipments between Whiting, Ind., and East St. Louis at the time of the offenses with which the defendant is charged, and that the defendant knowingly accepted a lower secret rate. The Court declared that the Government must convince him that it would be able to prove this.

At the request of Assistant District Attorney Wilkerson, court unexpectedly adjourned until tomorrow to allow time for the preparation of arguments to show that the required evidence will be forthcoming.

Jerked Mule's Tail; Held for Murder.

TALLULAH, La., March 9.—As Francis Wells, 60 years old, was riding a mule Sunday, Eli Johnson crept up and gave the mule's tail a jerk. The mule began to buck and the rider was thrown on his head and killed. Johnson is held on a charge of murder.

MR. TAFT WILL DO HIS OWN TALKING, SAYS KNOX AFTER FIRST MEETING OF CABINET

President Pursues Policy of Predecessors—Meets Senators and Supreme Court Members.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—President Taft's first Cabinet meeting convened at 11 o'clock today. All the members of the new Cabinet except Mr. Dickinson, who is to be Secretary of War, were present. President Taft has determined not to permit the members of his Cabinet to discuss the business transacted. The meeting today broke up at 12:45, when Secretary Knox announced Mr. Taft's ruling.

"The President has decided to pursue the policy of his predecessors and do his own talking," said Secretary Knox. Secretaries Wright, Meyer, Nagel and Wilson confirmed this statement. Previous to the meeting Secretary Knox had a conference with Mr. Taft and the President had time to receive the following callers:

Gov. Ide of the Philippine Islands, Senators Bradley, Kentucky; Nixon, Nevada; Scott, West Virginia; Gamble, South Dakota, and Carter and Clark of Montana; Representatives Martin of South Dakota, Dwight of New York; former Senator Fulton, Oregon; former Representative Richardson, Tennessee, and Elmer Dover, secretary of the Executive Committee of the National Republican Committee.

Chief Justice Fuller and members of the Supreme Court of the United States formally paid their respects to the President at the White House today. The justices were received in the blue parlor.

MEAT TOO HIGH, WILL BE CHEAPER, SAYS ARMOUR

Chicago Packer Says Price Will Drop Next Summer When Corn Is Lower.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 9.—"Meat will be cheaper this summer," said J. Ogden Armour, who passed en route from Palm Beach to Chicago yesterday.

"Meat is high, too high at present," he continued. "But this is because of the increased cost of feeding stock just now. It follows that when corn is high, meat is high. This summer we expect the price of corn to go down and meat will be cheaper."

PIGEONS REFUSE TO GIVE UP CHICKS WHICH THEY HATCHED

Hen Lays Eggs in Bird's Nest and in Three Weeks Goes Back for "Babies."

A black hen belonging to Sylvester Brandt, 14 years old, of 4944 Easton avenue, got two pigeons to set on her eggs and hatch them for her, but now the pigeons have adopted the chicks, one of which was hatched Saturday and the other Sunday, and will not let the hen have them.

The pigeon nest is in a box in a shed at the rear of the Brandt home. The hen went into the shed about three and a half weeks ago and mounted a stepladder leaning against the wall. From the ladder she hopped into the pigeon nest and laid two eggs.

The pigeons were considerably excited when they saw what Providence had laid at their door, but they at once went to setting industriously and stayed on the job very faithfully for three weeks. Then the chicks emerged from their shells.

Monday the hen, who thought that the fact of her laying the eggs gave her title to the chicks, climbed the ladder to have a look at the fluffy newcomers. But the pigeons, with shrill cries of anger, drove her back.

Sylvester says he will name one chicken Theodore and the other William Howard.

$1000 TO $700 IS BET THAT KREISMANN WINS MAYORALTY

Thousands of Dollars Offered by Republicans at Odds of 10 to 7 on Their Candidate.

Odds of 10 to 7 are being offered by Republicans that Kreismann will be elected Mayor. Among those who say they have big sums to wager that way is C. N. Van Buren of the brokerage firm of Simon Brookmire & Co.

Mr. Van Buren is reticent about the exact amount he has to bet, but asserts that he has several thousand dollars in hand and can obtain more. So far, however, he has found no takers.

Jacob Slupsky of the Lucas Place Storage Co., says he has made a bet of $1000 to $700 with Louis Erond, St. Louis representative of an Eastern shoe concern. Slupsky said he had made several other bets of similar amounts at the same odds, but declined to give the names of the takers. He said he had $5000 more to lay the same way.

So far as can be learned the odds of 10 to 7 on Kreismann prevail in all the betting done up to date.

3-YEAR-OLD ROBBER GETS $168

MONTROSE, Colo., March 9.—Robert Oxford, an 8-year-old yeggman, broke into a number of lock boxes of the Montrose Postoffice yesterday and got $168 in cash and drafts and a considerable amount of jewelry.

The boy opened the boxes, which are of the combination lock pattern, by listening to the click of the tumblers. He obtained the larger portion of his plunder from the boxes of the County Treasurer and a jewelry company. He was arrested soon after the theft was discovered. Accompanied by the police he returned to the Postoffice and opened a number of other boxes to illustrate his methods.

EYE SAW ONLY BRUISES; X-RAY A BROKEN BACK

Junior Hospital Physician Diagnosed Man's Injuries as Slight.

LIQUOR WAS MEDICINE

It Had Been Given Mahoney to Prevent His Fainting at Time of Accident.

The development of an X-ray plate Tuesday at the City Hospital revealed the fact that Patrick Mahoney, whose case was diagnosed, when he was admitted, as "lacerations, contusions and abrasions of the left leg and ankle," has a broken back.

Since Saturday evening, when Mahoney was admitted to the hospital, he has been confined in the Observation Ward, reserved for prisoners and alcoholics. This was due to the fact that the physician who examined him, and who made the contusions-abrasions diagnosis, smelled whisky. The whisky was given to Mahoney after he was injured, to prevent him from fainting.

Horse Fell on Him.

Mahoney was taken to the hospital from 3400 Lindell avenue, where a horse belonging to Judge Henry S. Priest reared and fell on him. No investigation of his case other than the physician's was made until Sunday, when X-ray photograph was taken Monday afternoon. Development of the plate showed that the eleventh dorsal vertebra was fractured. Whether Mahoney will live is a matter of conjecture.

Mahoney is 48 years old, and lives in a rooming house at Sixth and Morgan streets.

The receiving physician when the man was admitted was Dr. A. W. Beckemeyer, a junior. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the man was already bandaged when taken to the hospital, having come through the dispensary, and that he was sent to ward B-20 without further examination.

The physicians in charge of ward B-20 were Dr. William H. Cook, a senior, and Dr. James E. Ball, a junior. They made the first hospital diagnosis of the case.

Breath Indicated Drunkenness.

Superintendent Kirchner received his first information about Mahoney from a Post-Dispatch reporter. He seemed much surprised that so serious a case had come into the hospital without his knowing of it. Accompanied by the reporter, he sought Dr. Cook.

"What about this man, Mahoney?" Dr. Kirchner asked.

"Fractured vertebra," said Dr. Cook.

"Is it true he's in the Observation Ward?"

"Yes, I sent him there. I thought he was drunk. He was drunk."

Doctor Simply Smelled Liquor.

"How many drinks had he had?"

"I didn't inquire as to that. I smelled the liquor, and sent him to that ward."

Dr. Kirchner then explained that fractures of the vertebrae or of the skull are often difficult to detect at first, as the symptoms do not become manifest. Frequently the patient does not know of them himself. It was not remarkable, he said, that Dr. Cook had overlooked the break in Mahoney's back.

Dr. Kirchner and two assistants, Drs. Shutt and Bunch, are the only graduate physicians at the hospital, and are supposed to examine every patient. Dr. Shutt is now out of town. Neither Dr. Kirchner nor Dr. Bunch had examined Mahoney.

BAMBRICK DRINKS BLACK COFFEE AND EATS PRISON BREAD

S. A. THOMPSON AND WIFE GO TO HOMES APART

Son of Late Bank President Is Staying at Residence of His Brother.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Thompson, who are prominent socially, have learned that they have "agreed to disagree." Mrs. Thompson is now at the home of her mother, Mrs. Cyrus Clark, 4363 McPherson avenue, and Mr. Thompson is living with his brother, W. S. Thompson, at 4606 Lindell boulevard.

Mr. Thompson is a son of the late William H. Thompson and was one of the heirs to his wealthy father's large fortune. He is at the head of the William H. Thompson Investment Co. and is prominent in business.

Mrs. Thompson is a daughter of Cyrus Clark, president of the James Clark Leather Co. Both the Thompson and the Clark families have been prominent in business and socially for many years.

Both Mrs. Thompson and her mother confirmed the report Tuesday that she was living at the home of her parents, but both denied emphatically a report that an appeal to the divorce courts was being considered.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, until recently, occupied a suite of rooms at the Washington Hotel. That suite has been given up. An effort was made Tuesday to find Mr. Thompson, but he could not be found, although it was admitted at W. S. Thompson's home that he was living there.

G. T. OLIVER SUCCEEDS KNOX

Pittsburg Man to Be Elected Senator From Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 9.—At a caucus of Republican legislators this morning George T. Oliver of Pittsburg was nominated to succeed P. C. Knox as United States Senator from Pennsylvania. There was no opposition to his candidacy and he will be elected.

Wealthy Quarry Owner Who Lost Long Fight With Determined Women Says Last Night Was First Spent Away From Home.

John Bambrick, wealthy contractor and quarry owner, sat on the edge of an iron cot in cell 33 of the City Jail Tuesday, drank black coffee from a tin cup and munched a slice of bread an inch and a half thick, while he took his first daylight view of the surroundings in which he must live until next Saturday night.

He refused to order a special meal though he was told he might do so.

He was placed in jail Monday night to serve a five-day sentence imposed by Circuit Judge Jesse McDonald, 17 months ago, for contempt of court. An injunction which Judge McDonald had issued, forbidding the operation of the Bambrick quarry, at Florissant avenue and Penrose street, in a manner annoying and imperiling the neighbors, was repeatedly violated, and the Court held the rich owner of the quarry responsible.

"It was the first night I ever spent away from home in all my life," remarked Bambrick, who is 60 years old, when a Post-Dispatch reporter asked him how he had rested. "But I slept all right.

"I expect the time to pass quickly. Five days isn't very long. I haven't any plans for occupying my time any differently from the rest of the people here."

The "rest of the people" in the jail are, for the most part, glad to mop floors and make up beds as a means of passing their time. Bambrick will not have to do either. There is no compulsory work in the jail. If he does not wish to straighten the covers of his narrow pallet, another prisoner or a guard will do it for him.

Refuses to Take Exercise.

Bambrick lost one of his neighbors at noon Tuesday, when Ray Melroy, who pleaded guilty during the morning to petit larceny, left cell 32 to go to the Workhouse for a year's sentence. In cell 34 were Charles and Robert Vock, accused of highway robbery, who pleaded not guilty Tuesday morning and will remain for some time after Bambrick has gone.

The new prisoner had little to say to those lodged near him, and did not take advantage of the daily privilege of walking in the exercise court. His cell, which contains two cots, is not likely to be shared with another prisoner, as the jail is little more than half filled.

Sausage is the principal article of the midday meal. Bambrick said Tuesday that he had not yet made arrangements for having meals sent in for him. "If I don't like what they give me, I guess I can fast," he said, with a gesture indicating that his rugged physique could stand a brief famine.

He was bathed on being taken into the jail Monday night. He was too late for supper, but he had eaten at his home, a fine seven-room, two-story residence with attractive surroundings at 5529 St. Louis avenue, before starting with a deputy sheriff for the jail. He sat in his cell until lights were out at 9 p. m.

He was up at 6 a. m. Tuesday, and sent out for newspapers. While waiting for breakfast, he read accounts of his incarceration. Then he sent for a cigar, and after breakfast smoked it.

Triumph for Neighborhood.

Bambrick said he would like to make a statement about the charges and the occurrences which had caused his imprisonment. "My lawyer, Tom Rowe, has told me not to talk," he said, "but I am going to ask his consent to make a statement about my case."

The imprisonment of Bambrick was a triumph for a determined group of men and women, residents of the quarry neighborhood, who fought for almost a year in the courts to free themselves from conditions which were a source of constant fear.

The plaintiffs were Aloysius Krebs, John Laskowitz, Ernst Roediger, Charles Bante, Frank Meyer, Henry Bredeck, Charles F. Wehmeyer, Fred Muessemeyer, Christine Zilch, Joseph Meyer, Frederick Waldecker, Leopold Seller, Catherine Stiles, John Petersen and Mr. and Mrs. Fiedler.

Since the jail sentence was imposed the annoyances have ceased, and the quarry is said to have been sold to persons who operate it more carefully.

The Bambrick quarry at Florissant avenue and Penrose street was described two years ago as the terror of the neighborhood. From morning until night, at intervals, the quarrymen's heavy blasts rattled windows and clouds of dust sifted through doors and transoms.

A series of trials followed. Bambrick was fined $20 and later $200. Judge Jesse McDonald ultimately sentenced him to five days in jail for violating an injunction against endangering life and property in the neighborhood.

ARKANSAS CYCLONE KILLS 35; TROOPS ORDERED TO SCENE

Town of Brinkley Destroyed and Death List There Reaches 30 With Others Injured.

SURVIVORS FEAR MANY DEAD LIE IN THE RUINS

Business District Leveled by Storm Whose Path Was as Wide as the City—Governor Goes to Answer Appeal in Person.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BRINKLEY, Ark., March 9.—Thirty persons were killed, 15 to 40 were injured and more than $1,000,000 in property loss was caused by a cyclone which swept this city of 3000 population last night.

Mayor Jackson has appealed to Gov. Donaghey for aid and he also asked for militia to patrol the city, ghouls having begun working about the destroyed stores and residences. Information has been received that the Helena and McCrory companies have been ordered to proceed here at once.

Gov. Donaghey has left Little Rock for Brinkley with a special train loaded with supplies. He is expected this afternoon.

The city is a total loss. The cyclone passed over last night at 7 o'clock and when daylight revealed its work this morning it was found that the business section was in ruins and nine out of ten of the residences had been destroyed.

Among the identified white persons dead are:

Porter Foote.
J. L. Sterret.
Henry Stovall Jr.
Mrs. Phillipps.
Mrs. Belle Darden.
Charles Frenze.
—— Hood.
Mrs. Hood.
Miss Clara Rose.

The number of injured is estimated from 15 to 40. Among the negroes the loss of life is estimated at 20.

The cyclone came upon the town without a moment's notice, following a quiet as of summer calm. Its path was the width of the city.

Not a business house is standing or will not show from 60 to 90 per cent total loss. About six residences remain standing, and these are damaged, some of them slightly and some seriously. Survivors fear many dead are buried in the ruins.

Towns Lending Aid.

The neighboring towns are lending aid. Tonight the women and children will be sheltered by those who have come to the relief. Soon after daylight relief trains began to reach the scene. One was sent from Helena, and one from Little Rock. Shortly after daylight a meeting was called by E. C. Horner, Joe Solomon and J. A. Ward of the Business Men's Club of Helena, and arrangements made to care for all the homeless until permanent homes could be provided.

The dead are being taken to Helena, where they will be prepared for burial, as the undertaking establishments of this place are totally destroyed. Work of removing the demolished homes and business houses will be begun at once.

Connections have been cut off, and it is almost impossible to get connection with neighboring towns and cities.

Because of wire demoralization, a Cotton Belt passenger train could not be found last night and a report was sent out that it had been blown from the tracks near Baucum. The officials of the railroad in Memphis stated today that the train was safe.

Negro Boy Killed.

A tornado struck Fourche Dam, Ark., at 5 p. m. yesterday within five miles of Little Rock, killing a negro boy and injuring other negroes. Two houses were demolished and one was completely destroyed by fire after it had been blown to bits. Several negroes are reported to be fatally hurt.

The tornado crossed the Arkansas River at Fourche Dam and raised a spout of water about two hundred feet high. It traveled toward the northeast and swept a clean path about sixty yards wide. It was impossible to get any definite reports from that vicinity tonight. The tornado was followed by a violent hail and rainstorm, which kept up throughout the night.

Several Homes Demolished.

The same tornado passed into Barcum, where the extent of the damage is also unknown, and from there to Kerr, in Lonoke County, where several homes were demolished, and M. B. Adams, a farmer, was seriously if not fatally injured. He, with his wife, son and three others, was in the house at the time of the storm. They were buried in the debris, but all escaped alive.

The home of Dan Wagner, a saw-mill operator, was also destroyed, but he and his wife escaped with a few bruises.

A negro girl was killed at Kerr's and at Carlisle the home of a widow named Mason was demolished and three sons were killed, one being decapitated. The mother and a fourth child were also fatally injured.

Reports from Southern and Southwestern Arkansas say a heavy wind storm passed over those sections of the State last night, doing considerable damage to outhouses and small buildings, but no loss of life is reported.

Citizens Extinguish Fire Among Ruins and Avert Added Horror

D. M. Kimmell, a railroad operator at Brinkley, one of the first to reach a point of communication to summon aid for the devastated town, graphically describes the scenes immediately following the passing of the storm.

Together with several companions, Kimmell was in the Rock Island depot when the storm struck. As if it were a toy the substantial structure was twisted and broken, the occupants being caught among the falling timbers, bruised but otherwise unhurt. Extricating themselves after half an hour's effort, they found the town in darkness, the streets filled with a terror-stricken throng.

Intermittent flashes of lightning revealed wreckage everywhere, a portion of a building standing here and again only a tangled mass of debris. As Kimmell and his companions made their way through the streets, they identified two of the dead and stumbled over others who were wounded.

As the party started to leave Brinkley, intending to walk to the nearest town, the added horror of fire appeared. When two miles from Brinkley, Kimmell and party were forced to retrace their steps because of the gale. As they returned the fire had gained headway and, fanned by the stiff wind, was spreading, but the prompt work of citizens suppressed the conflagration.

Boarding a locomotive, Kimmell and his companions, J. M. Westaneky, Richards, a fireman and Conductor Gale made a quick run to carry the news of the story and an appeal for aid.

Property Loss at Malvern.

HALVERN, Ark., March 9.—As result of tornado here at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, accompanied by heavy rain, property in this city and immediate vicinity was damaged fully $50,000. The Methodist Church, a brick structure valued at $6000, was completely demolished and a number of buildings owned by the Rockwell Manufacturing Co. were unroofed.

Waico, Perla, Gifford and Oakleaf were damaged to considerable extent. The storm, which lasted only ten minutes, was preceded by almost pitch darkness.

RAILROAD DREAM SHATTERED, FORMER CONSUL ENDS LIFE

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Heartbroken because his dream of having an intercontinental railroad open to commerce the fertile valleys of Central and South America has never materialized, Hinton Rowan Helper, former United States Consul-General at Buenos Ayres, committed suicide here today.

FORTNER CASE UNDER INQUIRY BY GRAND JURY

Alleged Forgeries in Which Miss Hallen Is Involved Being Investigated.

INTENT MAKES CRIME

Attorneys Say It Is Doubtful if Any Jury Would Convict Girl.

Investigation of the new forgery charges against M. Dwight Fortner, which involve the like charges against his stenographer, Miss Hildegarde Hallen, and which occasioned her midnight arrest, was begun Tuesday by the grand jury. J. Philo Young, interm ary in the genuine deed of trust to county property, of which forged copies are alleged to have been made, was a witness.

Miss Hallen's preliminary hearing, on an information charging forgery in the second degree, issued by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Falkenhainer, is to take place Friday before Judge Taylor.

"No jury of men will ever do anything to her," said Xenophon P. Wilfley, an attorney, one of the signers of Miss Tallen's notarial recommendation, to a Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday.

Believes Her to Be Worthy.

"I signed her application because she worked in an office adjoining mine, because I was told that she was supporting her mother, and because I believed, as I still believe, that she was a worthy young woman trying to make an honest living. It is very common for young women employed in offices to hold notarial commissions. It makes them more useful employes, and gives them the opportunity to add to their earnings by fees."

Edward S. Lewis, the other signer of Miss Hallen's recommendation, said Tuesday that he did not remember affixing his signature, but that he presumed he had done so.

"Because of my acquaintance with Gov. Folk," said Mr. Lewis, "I was often requested to sign recommendations for notarial appointments, which are made by the Governor. Fortner was a tenant on the same floor with me, and I suppose he brought the paper in some day and that, perhaps, seeing Wilfley's signature, I signed it also."

President Gray Investigating.

President Gray of the Police Board said Tuesday that his inquiry into the circumstances of Miss Hallen's arrest, which have caused severe criticism of Chief of Detectives Smith, was in progress, but might or might not be finished up in time for consideration by the Board Friday.

"I cannot say whether the matter will be placed before the Board until all the reports from my investigation are in," he said. "I have not received sufficient reports, thus far, to enable me to express any views on the matter."

The charge against Miss Hallen is that, as a notary public, she acknowledged the signature of Mrs. Fortner, the daughter of A. H. Handlan, to several deeds of trust which were taken to Miss Hallen, already signed, by Fortner. To fulfill the proper duty of a notary, Miss Hallen should have witnessed the affixing of the signatures. It is now believed that Fortner forged his wife's name to the deeds.

Intent Governs Crime.

The law governing notaries provides that they and their bondsmen shall be financially responsible for any loss suffered through irregular notarial acts. Miss Hallen's bond, for $5000, was signed by the Bankers' Surety Co.

The statutes concerning forgery make it a crime for "any person authorized to take proof or acknowledgement of any conveyance of real estate wilfully" to certify falsely to such a document.

Former Circuit Attorney Sager said Tuesday that the question of intent would enter into the trial of Miss Hallen if the charge of second degree forgery against her should ever be placed before a jury.

"Strictly speaking," said Mr. Sager, "the State is not required to furnish definite proof of intent. The fact that an unlawful act is done is presumed to be, in itself, evidence of intent.

"But in a case where the defense can overcome this presumption by evidence to show innocence of wrong intent, juries are very likely to acquit."

Jurors Must Be Convinced.

Campbell Cummings said, regarding the same point: The State must prove intent, as it must prove every other fact, to the satisfaction of the jurors, who are the judges of the facts. In a preliminary hearing, where there is no jury, the question of intent may not carry so much weight."

The Twentieth Century Art Club has indorsed the resolution of the W. C. T. U. calling for a policewoman to accompany policemen sent to arrest women.

A Post-Dispatch Cartoonist's Idea of Boss Howe's 40 Minutes With Taft

Jeptha D. Howe had a forty-minute conference with President Taft Monday.—News Dispatch.

NOW what did Jeptha say to Bill?
O, printer "put us wise."
"I can't," he says, "my case is short
Of big, black capital I's."

AND how did Bill the Big withstand
The wily Jeptha's wiles?
We'll never know because of dearth
Of round, fat O's for smiles.

O boy, go out and buy some type
To set in serried rows,
And don't forget to bring a lot
Of I's and black-face O's.

CHIEF SMITH DENOUNCED IN LETTERS FOR ARREST

The circumstances of the arrest of Miss Hallen, whose home was invaded without warrant at night, has caused a storm of protest from sympathetic persons, many of whom have written to the Post-Dispatch denouncing Chief of Detectives Smith and his men for their treatment of the young woman.

H. H. Stendel writes: "These brutes who forced their way into a defenseless woman's home at an unreasonable hour of the night and ruthlessly, without warrant or authority of right, forced her to be treated as a common lawbreaker, should be severely dealt with."

"A Brave Lot!"

"An Equal Suffragist" has this to say: "What a brave lot of officers there must be on the St. Louis police force! Take eight of them to watch a widow's home (which shelters herself and two children—a son and a daughter), for six or eight hours, then these brave guardians of the law and public peace become lawbreakers, forcing an entrance to the place after midnight, armed as if to fight a band of desperadoes, for the sole purpose of arresting, without warrant, one defenseless young girl, compelling her to go or be dragged by them to the station house at such an hour of the night when no good purpose could be served. Such an act is about as brave as it would be for a company of soldiers to kill a mouse."

Contributes to Prosecution.

"A Traveling Man," writing on stationery of the Maryland Hotel, incloses a dollar to be used in aiding Miss Hallen in prosecuting those who arrested her.

"The outrageous and brutal arrest," he says, "has aroused my deepest sympathy for this poor, unfortunate child and her mother. I am sure there are thousands of worthy citizens who would cheerfully contribute a mite to aid her in seeking redress."

"Citizen" is sarcastic. "Why," he writes, "did not Mr. Chief Smith and one dozen of his braves, in 1901, break the door of Barnes, the train robber, when he escaped out on Bell avenue by jumping from a second-story window with a revolver in each hand and firing several shots. The detectives knocked the fence down getting away. Ask Desmond."

A. C. T. asks: "If it takes eight policemen to arrest one small, frail woman, how many would it take to capture a bandit like Tracy or Rudolph or Collins?"

This from a visitor from Texas: "Why does St. Louis have to stand for such brutal treatment? Why don't they have a man in this position who is cultured, a thorough man and citizen and not a bully?"

POSSE SEEKS NEGRO WHO SHOT A BANK PRESIDENT

Wounded Man Is Dying and Friends Are Thought to Be Intent on Lynching.

JACKSON, Miss., March 9.—A telegram from Cruger, Holmes County, states that a posse is scouring the country in an effort to capture Joe Gordon, a negro, who late yesterday shot C. H. Pitchford, president of the Bank of Cruger, and his brother-in-law, A. B. Smith. Pitchford is in a critical condition and Smith received painful wounds. The trouble occurred over the negro and the attempt to remove mortgaged property from his house. Gordon will probably be lynched if caught.

BUSINESS MEN CHEER THE ADVENT OF NEW MEMBER

League at "Boosting Luncheon" Hears Good News From John Schroers.

More than 300 members of the Business Men's League attended the first monthly "boosting luncheon" at the Mercantile Club Tuesday.

The object of these gatherings is to increase the membership of the League from 500 to 1000 and to spread the fame of St. Louis as a manufacturing and jobbing center.

James E. Smith, president of the League, acted as chairman. He outlined the purposes of the luncheon and called on John Schroers, chairman of the membership committee, to report progress. There was a salvo of applause when Mr. Schroers announced that the committee had recruited 36 new members.

He said that if each member present would promise to bring in one additional member before the next monthly luncheon the entertainment committee would guarantee the remaining 150 needed to make up the desired 1000.

Former Gov. D. R. Francis pledged himself to bring in one member.

MAYOR NOT READY TO TELL CHOICE OF NEW COMMISSION

Public Service Appointees Will Not Be Announced to Council Yet.

The association adopted a resolution declaring its opposition to the bill pending in the Legislature calling for a constitutional convention to repeal the referendum amendment to the constitution. The Legislative Committee of the association, of which Thomas Odlum is chairman, was instructed to go to Jefferson City Wednesday and lay the association's position before the lawmakers.

It was also arranged to propound questions regarding live municipal issues to candidates for the House of Delegates, which they will be asked to answer in writing.

MRS. LAMONT'S WATCH BEARS INITIALS "E. G. G."

But Hospital Patient Denies She Is Mrs. E. G. Goelet, Divorce Plaintiff.

HUSBAND ON THE WAY

New York Physician Hurries West to Clear Up the Mystery.

Whether the fashionably dressed woman who was recently a City Hospital patient, suffering from a mental lapse, was Mrs. Elaine Goodenow Goelet or Mrs. Charles Lamont, became a puzzling question Tuesday, when it was learned at the City Hospital that her gold watch bore the engraved initials "E. G. G."

The woman picked up at Olive street and Channing avenue last Thursday night, carried an empty envelope addressed to Mrs. Goelet. She denied that she was Mrs. Goelet, and her statement seemed to be borne out when a man who said he was Charles Lamont of 1116 North Sarah street claimed her as his wife.

On the supposition that the patient was Mrs. Goelet, telegrams were sent to Dr. Augustin H. Goelet, a New York Physician, whom Mrs. Goelet is suing for divorce.

Dr. Goelet, who said he had not known of the divorce suit, left New York, and is believed to be on his way to St. Louis, if he has not arrived.

Messages stating that the woman was believed to be another than his wife were sent to Dr. Goelet's office too late to reach him. The fact of the initials on the gold watch did not become known until Tuesday.

Alexander Young, who is Mrs. Goelet's lawyer in her divorce suit, has tried to solve the identity puzzle, but says he has not succeeded. He made an unsuccessful effort to find Mrs. Lamont at the Sarah street address named by Lamont.

The woman regained her mental faculties fully before leaving the hospital, and did not contraict the statement that she was Mrs. Lamont.

Dispatches from New York state that attendants in Dr. Goelet's New York office say they do not know where the physician has gone.

ROOSEVELT FAMILY WILL WAIT IN ITALY FOR HUNTERS' RETURN

Mrs. Roosevelt and Children to Visit Her Sister at Villa Near Rome.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., March 9.—According to the present intentions of ex-President Roosevelt, his entire family, with the exception of Mrs. Longworth and Theodore Jr., will spend most of the time in Italy while Mr. Roosevelt is away. They will be the guests of Mrs. Roosevelt's sister, Miss Carew, at her villa near Rome. Mrs. Roosevelt will remain at Sagamore Hill only about three months after her husband and Kermit sail for Africa.

She and her three children will leave by a Mediterranean steamer for Naples some time the latter part of June or the first of July. They will be met at Naples by Miss Carew. During the nine months intervening until the arrival of Mr. Roosevelt at Khartoum, Mrs. Roosevelt and her children will visit various parts of Italy and Europe. It has been planned to have Mrs. Roosevelt leave Italy early in March, 1910, and journey across the Mediterranean to Alexandria and thence by boat and rail up the Nile to Khartoum. Here Mr. Roosevelt, with his expedition, will arrive about April 1, and will be met by Mrs. Roosevelt.

CARMACK TRIAL THRONG DANGER TO COURTHOUSE

Architect Complains and Judge Orders Corridors Cleared for Safety.

DEFENSE BEGINS PLEA

Attorney Accuses Prosecution of Effort to Besmirch Col. Cooper.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 9.—So great was the throng which tried to crowd into the courtroom this morning to hear the arguments in the Cooper-Sharp murder trial, that the architect of the building appealed to the Judge and declared there was danger of a serious accident. Long after the room itself could hold no more, the curious people continued to push into the corridors and up the stairways.

So great became the crush that fears were expressed lest the railings give way and drop those on the stairs upon those beneath them. Judge Hart hurriedly sent deputies into the corridors and soon cleared them entirely.

The Judge again admonished the audience to refrain from any kind of demonstrations. Gen. Meeks then began the opening argument for the defense. He had been ill and seemed scarcely able to stand. His preliminary remarks were spoken in such a low tone that even the jurors failed to catch them. As he warmed up, he said:

"The State has appealed to you to enforce the law. And the State's idea of enforcing the law seems to be to convict some one, innocent or guilty. I want to say to you, gentlemen, that never in my life and in broad practice have I seen a witness so shamefully treated as was Col. Cooper by Capt. Fitzhugh."

To Besmirch, Not to Convict.

"The prosecutor seemed careless as to whether he acquitted or convicted Col. Cooper of the murder of Senator Carmack, but he did seem determined to besmirch the witness' character. He accused him of not paying his debts. What has that to do with the killing of Carmack? They tried to make you believe that he embezzled funds as clerk and master of chancery. What has that to do with the killing of Carmack?

"You saw the witness on the stand. You heard him swear that no one ever lost a dollar through him. You heard him swear that his business methods were always unsuccessful. The whole scheme of the State was not to convict Col. Cooper of murder, but to disgrace him publicly on his record."

WOERNER FAVORS FREE BRIDGE AND REGULATION OF UTILITIES

Candidate for Mayor Declares He Is Not Hampered by Promises.

In his acceptance of the Democratic nomination for Mayor, following his formal notification at his home, 2124 South Compton avenue, Monday night, William F. Woerner said:

"This is not the occasion for going into details as to the issues in the coming campaign; these will be discussed hereafter. In so far, however, as a general policy can be outlined by a platform, I may say that I am in accord with the platform adopted.

"I particularly favor those planks urging the immediate completion of the free bridge and a sane and conservative, but firm and fearless regulation of public utilities along just lines."

Mr. Woerner said that it had been his desire to "remain in the calm of private life" and that the nomination had come to him over his protest, but that he did not feel that he could decline so high an honor extended him by the Democratic party.

He said that he was not bound or hampered by any promises to individuals or cliques and that he had no obligations of any kind, direct or indirect, that would prevent his being free to act always for the best interest of the city.

EMBEZZLING BANK CLERK LOST ALL BIG BETS, HE SAYS

W. A. Gray Tells How He Gambled Away Employers' Funds.

"PLAYED" HANDBOOKS

Won Small Wagers Only and Good Money Followed Bad.

William A. Gray, young Bank of Commerce clerk, now behind prison bars on a charge that he embezzled more than $2000 of bank funds, told Tuesday how, for nearly two years he sent good money after bad, playing the races in St. Louis handbooks in an effort to straighten his accounts.

His peculations, he says, started with the theft of $35, sent to the Bank of Commerce through the mails by an out-of-town bank.

"I was in the mailing department and my duty was to open the mail," he said. "One day in July, 1907, after I had cleaned up the day's mail I found that one of the envelopes had fallen into the drawer of my desk.

Salary Was Small.

"I opened it. There was $35 in it. Because it was too late to have it properly credited that day I put it in my pocket. That night I went out with friends and spent the money. I was greatly worried. My salary was small and I couldn't afford to make it good. I confided in a friend and he asked me why I didn't play the races and get the money back that way. He said it could be done and nobody would ever know about it.

"He took me to a downtown cafe and introduced to me a man who agreed to place bets for me with a handbook maker, whose name he said was Rogers.

"I won a few small bets. The man I met at the cafe kept giving me tips, but when I would put any considerable amount on one race I would always lose.

"Sometimes I put up as much as $25 a day. I was always thinking of getting back enough to cover all of my shortage, which was getting bigger all the time.

"One day a handbook man came to me and said he would fix it so I could win a large sum of money. He told me that he had a telegraph operator 'fixed' to give him results of races before the handbook makers got them. 'But you'll have to make a big play or you can't get in on this,' he said.

"The next day, while I was in the cafe, he came running in and said: 'I've got one. Give me $150 quick. I'll bet it with Rogers.'

"Soon he came running in and slapped me on the back and told me the horse had won. It meant that I would have enough to square my shortage at the bank.

"I met him again the next day, and he seemed greatly disappointed.

Exposure Threatened.

"Rogers got next," he said, "and he won't pay the bet. He won't give back the $150, either. He says if we make a holler he will expose us for trying to steal his money by betting on advance information."

"The loss of that $150 put me so far in the hole that I had no chance to make good the shortage. After that I knew it would only be a question of time until I should be arrested.

Gray is 24 years old and lives with his parents at 3945 Cook avenue. He was taken in custody there Monday night.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Rosskopf Tuesday said that he is preparing informations charging him with embezzlement.

The complainants against Gray are B. F. Edwards, president of the Bank of Commerce, and Charles W. Disbrow of the United States Fidelity and Casualty Co., which is on Gray's bond for $5000.

The specific charges in the information will be that Gray stole ... from an envelope mailed by an Omaha bank and the same amount from an envelope mailed by an Arkansas bank.

Bank officials say the shortage so far discovered is more than $2000. Gray says that, so far as he can estimate, his thefts amounted to about $1000.

PRESIDENT ELIOT BELIEVES INTERMARRIAGE OF RACES IS BAD FOR ALL CONCERNED

Harvard University Man Says Strongest Children Are Not Produced by Such Unions.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 9.—"There should be no admixture of racial stocks," declared President Eliot of Harvard University last night, in an interview. "I believe, for example, that the Irish should not intermarry with the Americans of English descent; that the Germans should not marry the Italians; that ... Jews should not marry the French. Each race should maintain its own individuality.

"The experience of civilization shows that racial stocks are never mixed with profit, and that such unions do not bring forth the best and strongest children. There is no reason, however, why the races cannot live together, side by side, in perfect peace and amity.

"In the case of the negroes and the whites, the races should be kept apart in every respect. ... South has a wise policy. I believe that Booker T. Washington has the right ideals and that Dubois is injuring the progress of his race with his views.

"In the North we are afflicted in our civic life by having masses of voters who know nothing of liberty. Our problem is to show the newer arrivals that it is to their interest to have efficient government and not lavish expenditures."

HOUSE BILL CUTS DOWN NUMBER OF CLERKS BY 130

Representative Brooks' Measure Would Save the State $390 a Day.

From a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 9.—Moved by the exposures of clerical force graft, Representative Brooks (Rep.) of St. Louis County has introduced a bill to allow each member of the majority party in the General Assembly two clerks and the minority members one apiece.

According to this apportionment, the number of clerks in the present Legislature would be 273, or 130 less than are now drawing pay from the State. In other words, the State could save at least $390 a day.

The projected law would be a body-blow to the Senate patronage. In the upper body 34 senators have 200 "private secretaries," whereas, under the Brooks enactment, they would have 57.

The expense vouchers for the re-count committee in the lieutenant-governorship contest offer a striking example of the cost of these expenditures. Several senators, among them McDavid of Greene County, Oliver of Pemiscot and Gardner of St. Louis County, reported $8 a day hotel bills while in St. Louis. St. Louis hotel men say that not more than one guest in fifty pays $8 per day for room and board.

Senator Peck spent $7 a day with St. Louis hotels while the re-count was in progress. There were other interesting items in the expense statements of the Senate investigators, which were included under the general head of "railroad transportation, Pullman fares," and so on. More than $2500 was spent in this way by the House and Senate committees appointed to re-count the vote for Lieutenant-Governor, but there is no record showing with whom the bills were contracted, not even the name of a hotel where the lawmakers stayed during their St. Louis sojourn.

Col. T. P. Rixey, sergeant-at-arms of the committee, was paid $190 as his salary and expenses. He charged the State only $5 a day, however, for room and lodging, and $2.48 for fare from Jefferson City to St. Louis and the same amount returning to Jefferson City.

Claud Long, assistant sergeant-at-arms, fixed his hotel bill at $5 per day, but charged $3.25 each way for railroad fare.

All of these bills were approved by Senator McDavid and were sent to the State Treasurer for immediate payment.

The State Auditor O K'D them promptly, although he still is holding up the $350,000 payroll accounts of the State institutions. Auditor Gordon says he is waiting for the General Assembly to adopt a resolution instructing him to pay off the State help, including an army of scrubwomen who get only $4.50 a week.

The Speaker of the House, Mr. Speer, says the auditor could pay this money if he wanted to. "A resolution of the assembly would have no effect in making his action legal," said Mr. Speer. "The assembly has nothing to do with the Auditor's office duties. These employes ought to be paid or they ought not. It is a question for the Auditor himself to decide."

"PINK PILLS ARE THE ONLY MEDICINE THAT HELPED ME"

A Knoxville, Iowa, Woman Cured of Stomach Trouble Complicated With Lumbago Praises Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

A majority of those who have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills state that they had tried other treatments and other remedies in vain. Such a case is that of Mrs. N. A. Stentz, of Knoxville, Iowa, who says:

"I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills very highly as they are the only medicine that helped me after years of suffering. I was troubled with indigestion, had no appetite and what I ate distressed and made me sick to my stomach. I had been in this condition for a long time, when I began to have terrible pains in my back. They were so severe that I couldn't bend over nor turn in bed and had to be pulled up by my hands, when lying down. My stomach trouble had often compelled me to go to bed for a short time, but when these pains in my back came on, I had to give up and stay in bed. Even then I got but little rest or relief.

"The doctors said I was suffering from lumbago complicated with chronic stomach trouble. After I had been in bed for some time and was in despair of getting well, as the doctors were not helping me, my son, who had heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills while in the army in the Philippine Islands, brought me a box of the pills. It was about a week before I felt they were helping me and I must have taken them for over a month. I then felt cured and my stomach and back haven't troubled me since. I gained in weight and have been healthier than at any time since I was a young girl. I always keep the pills on hand and cannot praise them enough."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have corrected serious disorders of the stomach and restored to health sufferers from severe disorders of the blood and nerves. For many forms of weakness and debility, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended even if ordinary remedies have been tried without relief.

Sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

New laces, embroideries and dress trimmings

Hats, gowns and materials are rich in effect this spring, and much credit is due the trimmings, which never before have been so wonderfully beautiful. Dress trimmings, laces and embroideries are decided departures from the styles and designs of last year.

There is a great predominance of metal effects in dress trimmings—gold nets, gold, silver and jet bands and allovers are extremely appropriate for handsome gowns. Bugles, which were a great fad in the anti-bellum days, are equally popular now. This very attractive trimming makes a beautiful fringe, and comes in gold, crystal and jet. The gold nets, embroidered or braided in gold, are exqusite; and filet gold net, embroidered in gold and tiny ribbons in pastel shades, is especially beautiful. Nets of various colors come embroidered in harmonious shades, and both white and black Brussels nets, embroidered in gold, are popular for yokes or separate waists.

In laces, there are too many things to expect to even partially cover the ground, but the new Venice allovers, in Irish crochet patterns, are too important to overlook, and the Venice bands are also unusually beautiful this season. Many new nets and allover laces have appeared for waists, many being 45 inches wide, which is a great advantage in cutting.

In embroideries, one is positively bewildered by the exquisite new sets, which include two or three widths of edges, a band, allover and a galloon. These beautiful sets come in elegant blind embroidery or the more open eyelet work. Colored sets are a distinct novelty and will be very popular this summer; in fact, this colored embroidery will be extensively employed, both in summer waists and gowns this season. It will well repay one the trouble in looking over our stock of embroideries, laces and trimmings. We have the best the market affords at moderate prices.

WANTED, BY POLICE, LEGAL MEANS TO MUZZLE ROOSTER

Chanticleer Crows and Wakes Guardians of the Law at Unseemly Hours.

Capt. Johnson and the police of the Soulard Station are trying to determine what can be done legally to repress the vocal efforts of a Brahma rooster, the property of Jacob Bastian of 1830 South Broadway. The rooster, which has a voice like a circus calliope, has antagonized not only the 1800 block on South Broadway with his premature summons in a raucous voice for all to arise, but the men of the police station at unseemly hours.

The police say the rooster does not know the hours, and instead of heralding the dawn, for which he was originally intended, he starts in about midnight and crows steadily from that time forth until the breakfast hour.

Bastian's neighbors have applied to the police to have the rooster either muzzled or destroyed, but Capt. Johnson is not quite sure what his limitations are. He knows what to do with a vicious dog, a noisy party of beer canners, or other peace disturbers, but a chanticleer who starts to work before dawn is not on the statute books.

DEATH RATE FROM CANCER AND SUICIDE INCREASING

The death rate from cancer and suicide in this country is steadily increasing, according to a report recently issued by the Bureau of the Census. It is the eighth annual report on mortality statistics issued by that bureau and is for the year 1907. It does not cover the whole country, but does cover a great part of it which is included in what is called by the bureau "the registration area."

St. Joseph, Mo., has the lowest death rate per population of any of the larger cities in the registration area. It was 9 per 1000 of estimated population, while the rate for St. Paul was 10, for Omaha 12, for Washington, D. C., 20, and for Denver 23. New Orleans, with 24 deaths per 1000, had the largest death rate of all the larger cities.

The death rate from suicide rose from 14 per 100,000 population in 1906 to 16 in 1907.

The death rate from cancer rose from 70 per 100,000 population in 1906 to 73 in 1907. Cancer caused 30,514 deaths in 1907, or 1494 more than in 1906. Of the various forms of this disease, cancer of the stomach and liver was responsible for nearly two out of every five deaths from cancer.

Deaths From Tuberculosis Less.

A remarkable showing of the report is that the deaths from tuberculosis of all forms decreased slightly. The large cities with highest rates of death from tuberculosis were: Denver, 486; New Orleans, 332; Washington, D. C., 280; Cincinnati, 266. The highest rates for cities having less than 100,000 inhabitants were for San Antonio, Tex., 633, and Colorado Springs, 580. Tuberculosis of the lungs caused nearly nine-tenths of all the deaths from tuberculosis in its various forms.

The death rate from violence of all forms rose from 120 per 100,000 population in 1906 to 125 in 1907. Of the deaths from violence 43,094 were accidental, 6745 were suicides and 2109 were homicides. Deaths from railroad accidents numbered 7676 and deaths from automobile accidents 294.

Over one-fourth of the deaths were of children under 5 years of age. For the period from 45 to 59 years of ago, heart disease outranked every other cause of death, being responsible for one-eighth of the deaths, while tuberculosis ranked second, with 12 per cent.

Of all the deaths in the registration area, tuberculosis caused 11 per cent, pneumonia 9 per cent, heart disease 8 per cent, violence 7 per cent and diarrhea and enteritis 7 per cent.

Statistics show that the death rate among the negroes is greater than among the white, the death rate among the whites being 18 and among the negroes 29 per 1000 population.

NOBODY WANTS WOMAN HELPLESS AND HOMELESS

Mrs. Mary Gill Shipped From Town to Town to Get Her Out of the Way.

REFUSED BY HOSPITALS

City Institution Cannot Take Her and Others Decline the Charge.

Mrs. Mary Gill, helpless from sickness and without a friend or relative except a husband, who deserted her several months ago, is being cared for at Union Station by Matron Hunter and Sergt. Meehan, who says he has been unsuccessful in attempts to have her admitted to the City Hospital and several private hospitals.

Mrs. Gill, who is suffering from locomotor ataxia, reached Union Station Monday from Ste. Genevieve, Mo., having been sent to St. Louis by the authorities there. Because of her affliction she cannot walk and cannot even feed herself. Sergt. Meehan said the City Hospital refused to receive her because she was not a resident of St. Louis, and that private hospitals he had asked to take her in declined to do so.

Mrs. Gill, who is 56 years old, told Sergt. Meehan that after her husband deserted her several months ago, she carried on the business of a peddler in Arkansas. Her horse died three weeks ago in Black Rock, Ark., and she was left without means of making a living. She said she did not know the different towns she had been in, but remembered that from Carothersville, Mo., she had been sent to Cape Girardeau, from there to Ste. Genevieve and from there to St. Louis.

Shipped From Town to Town.

"I have no home," Mrs. Gill told a Post-Dispatch reporter, speaking with difficulty because of her ailment, "and do not care what becomes of me. "I came from nowhere and am going no place.

"Carruthersville shipped me to Cape Girardeau, and they sent me on to Ste. Genevieve, and the Ste. Genevieve people sent me to St. Louis.

"In each town they told me they did not want me, and asked me to get out, but they did not help me. They merely gave me a railroad ticket to the next place, but no money or food.

"I used to make a good living peddling in Arkansas, in the swamp district. First I got this ailment of the limbs—I cannot remember the long name the doctors call it—and then my husband got tired of me and left me. That was four years ago. He left me the wagon and horse and I went on peddling the best I could.

Bad Luck Continues.

"But my bad luck continued. In Black Rock my horse died. That left me stranded. I did not have money enough to get another, so I sold the wagon. That gave me money enough to live a little while, but when it was gone my troubles commenced.

"Black Rock did not want me, and sent me out of town. The other towns all did the same. Now it looks like St. Louis will not take me. I guess I ought to go off and die."

TRIPLE A PARK EQUIPMENT FOR ALL THE PUBLIC

Park Commissioner Scanlan Plans to Extend Athletic Facilities.

Park Commissioner Scanlan stated clearly Tuesday that he does not desire to oust the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association from Forest Park, but wants to bring the Triple A's clubhouse, tennis courts, baseball grounds and other equipment under the city's control and make them accessible to everybody. He says that he has the co-operation of the officers and many members of the Triple A in this scheme.

"I do not want to drive the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association from Forest Park," Mr. Scanlan said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I want to do with that just what was done with the Art Museum—municipalize it and make it free to everybody.

"It is not my purpose to drive the Triple A and its facilities from the park, but to bring them under the city's control. The work it is accomplishing is a good one, and should not be stopped, but it should be accessible to everybody in St. Louis.

"I have had this under consideration for some time and as soon as I have a park organization sufficient to care for the Triple A clubhouse, grounds, tennis courts, baseball fields and other equipment, I shall take steps to bring them under municipal charge.

"I did not want to drive the museum from Forest Park. I merely wanted it free to all. The same with the Triple A.'s facilities. Municipal golf links, tennis courts, baths, etc., would be a great boon to the city.

"I have conferred with the officers of the Triple A, and they are agreeable to this plan. They realize that they are occupying public property and that the public has a right to it."

DIVORCED AFTER 23 YEARS, MAN WOOS WIFE AGAIN

Five Children Watch Second Courtship of Parents With Happy Ending.

It was a happy day for the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brockhahn of O'Fallon, Ill., near Belleville, when they could say to each other: "Papa and mamma are going to get married."

The boys and girls of the Brockhahn household had watched with great interest the courtship of their father and mother, and their fond expectations were realized Monday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Brockhahn were made one by Justice Evans at Belleville.

Just 23 years ago within a stone's throw of the place of their second marriage they were joined in wedlock by the pastor of St. Paul's Church.

In the years that followed they reared their large family. Then clouds drifted across the matrimonial sky.

Two years ago Mrs. Brockhahn obtained a decree of divorce on grounds of incompatibility. The husband did not contest the suit.

Mrs. Brockhahn and her children retained the home and the divorced husband went to board a few blocks away.

Mrs. Brockhahn went into the Circuit Court and obtained an injunction to restrain her husband from interfering in her affairs.

At times he saw his children on the street. Several months ago he sent a message to his former wife asking if he could call at the home and visit them. At first she refused to grant the permission, but the children added their pleadings to those of the father, and she yielded.

At first Mrs. Brockhahn would not see her husband when he called. Gradually the ice was broken, and they said, "Howdy do," and "good-by" to each other.

From this beginning their conversation grew in scope until they sometimes chatted about the weather, the crops, and kindred topics.

It was not until after many visits that Brockhahn summoned up courage to talk of subjects which had a more intimate and personal note in them. The terms of the injunction were forgotten.

Almost imperceptibly the reconciliation developed into a reawakening of friendly interest—then the second courtship.

Brockhahn is 44 years old, and his wife is 42.

LIGHTNING STRIKES HOME OF GEORGE WARREN BROWN

Stone From Cornice Weighing 200 Pounds Is Hurled Into Street at Portland Place.

Lightning struck George Warren Brown's home at 40 Portland place during the storm which beat on the city at 10 p. m. Monday. The shock attendant on the bolt was felt for blocks away in many parts of the West End and the glare was visible a mile away.

The lightning struck a corner of the roof, tearing a stone cornice to pieces and scattering tiles from the roof to the ground. A stone weighing 200 pounds was hurled to the middle of the street by the lightning. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were not at home at the time and none of the occupants were injured.

A call was sent to the Salvage Corps, which spread a tarpaulin over the hole in the roof to prevent the heavy rain from pouring into the house. Tuesday workmen began making repairs. There was no fire, owing to the noncombustible nature of the materials in the cornice and on the roof, which the lightning struck.

The WEBER

Further Evidence of the Supremacy of

The WEBER

Last fall ground was broken in a suburb of London, England, for the erection of a factory to manufacture Weber Pianos.

This is another indication of the commanding position the Weber Piano has assumed in the world of music.

American pianos, as a rule, have little or no sale abroad. That the demand for the Weber in Europe should be so great as to justify the building of a large factory there, shows how its artistic progress is meeting with recognition throughout the world.

The Weber Piano is on sale in St. Louis only at Aeolian Hall, and we invite you to our warerooms to hear this instrument. The superlative tone quality which makes the Weber the choice of great artists like Padrewski and Rosenthal also renders it the ideal piano for the home.

WIFE DENIES SHE AIDED SHOOTING OF HER HUSBAND

Comely Croatian Woman Is Accused of Providing Weapon.

7 YEARS FOR PARAMOUR

His Fiancee Crosses Sea and Is Expected to Testify at Trial of Married Rival.

Mrs. Katie Markovitch, who eloped to East St. Louis with Vinco Kuster after he had shot her husband six times with the intention of killing him, will testify Tuesday in the Circuit Court at Clayton in her own defense. She is charged with being an accessory to the shooting.

Kuster pleaded guilty Monday and was sentenced to serve seven years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Markovitch, a Croatian woman of more than the average beauty of her race, has steadily denied any part in the shooting of her husband, John Markovitch. She and Kuster were arrested in East St. Louis, where they were found together several days after the shooting.

The testimony of Markovitch, in his effort to convict his wife of complicity, contained only circumstantial evidence, there being no positive evidence that she assisted Kuster.

Markovitch told with the aid of an interpreter that Kuster boarded at his home at Papin and Beaumont streets, and that about 7 a. m., Sept. 11, Kuster asked him to go with him to search for work.

"I did not want to go," said Markovitch, "but Kuster urged me to, and my wife insisted that I should go, and I finally consented.

"Kuster had a package under his arm, and when I asked him what was in it, he said it contained our lunch. I thought no more about it, but I later discovered my revolver was in the package and that he used the revolver to try to kill me.

Lured Into Grove and Shot.

"We got on a car and went out to St. Louis County. After getting off the car, we walked about two miles and came to a grove. When we were among the trees, Kuster took paper and tobacco from his pocket and began to roll a cigarette. He stopped still while doing that, and I walked on a few steps.

"While my back was turned to him, he fired one shot. I turned around, and as I did so, he fired four more shots, all of them striking me. I fell, and he fired once more while I was lying on the ground.

"Then he went away. After a while I managed to crawl to a farm house, and the people there sent me to the City Hospital.

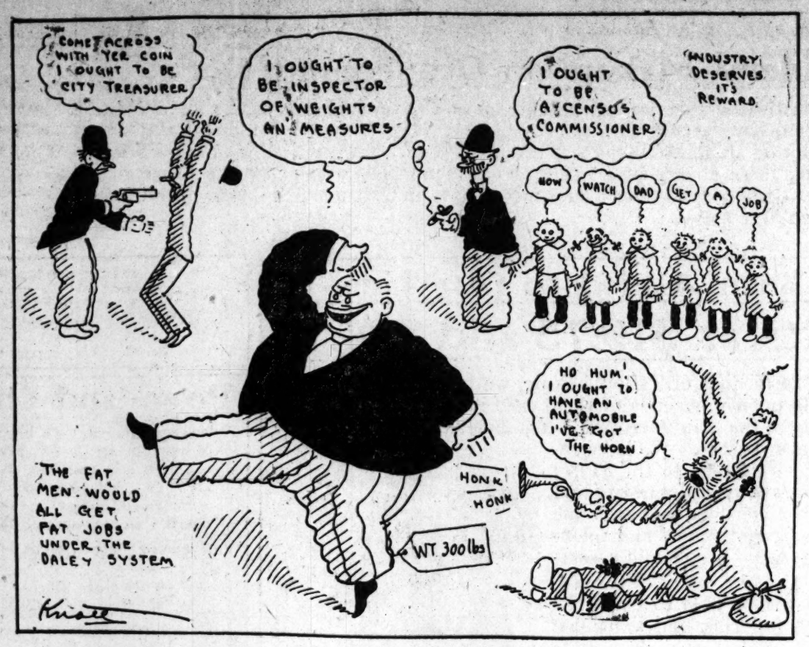

"The revolver Kuster had was my revolver. I always kept it locked in my trunk. My wife had a key to that trunk and Kuster could not have had the revolver unless my wife gave it to him, or else gave him the key to my trunk."

After their arrest Mrs. Markovitch and Kuster said they were married before coming to America.

St. Louis policemen who investigated the Markovitch shooting, testified that they found Markovitch's revolver in his wife's trunk, that it had the appearance of having been fired recently, and that it contained six loaded cartridges. The weapon was found in the trunk, they said, the afternoon after the shooting.

Another witness who will probably testify Tuesday is Rosa Larservic, sister of Mrs. Markovitch, who reached St. Louis several days after the shooting. She is said to have come to America for the purpose of marrying Kuster, and reaching St. Louis, she learned her sweetheart had eloped with her sister after shooting the latter's husband.

More Suggestions Along the Line of Making the Seeker Fit the Office

Lawler Daley, ward politician and half brother of Frank Hussey, says he ought to be in the School Board because he has two children who go to a public school.

THERE was a man in our town
Whose leg was made of wood.
As presidential timber
He thought that he'd make good.

ANOTHER man there was who had
A love for currant jam.
"I'm the man to run the trolley cars,"
He said, "indeed I am."

A third there was, a jolly wight
Whose nose was round and red.
"I ought to be a 'tail-light'

WIFE AND BABIES CHEER LAWYER ON TRIAL AS COINER

Prominent Danville Man's Defense Is That He Made Medals Only.

TRAILED FOR WEEKS

Attorneys Go to Rescue When Wealthy Father-in-Law Withdraws From Bond.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DANVILLE, Ill., March 9.—With a 4-year-old daughter playing at his feet and his wife with a 3-months-old babe in her arms sitting just behind him, Charles E. Brown, one of the best-known attorneys in Eastern Illinois, is battling in the Federal Court here to evade the disgrace of a sentence to the Government prison at Leavenworth, Kan., on a counterfeiting charge.

Since his arrest at his home here last July, Brown has aged greatly. Formerly a handsome man, in the prime of life, there are now furrows on his forehead and dark circles about his eyes. His wife is much calmer than he and frequently reached over during the trial to pat him on the hand as she whispers some message of encouragement.

Trailed for Weeks.

The most damaging testimony against Brown has been given by Capt. Porter of the secret service, who is corroborated by United States Marshal Watts. Capt. Porter testified that he found in the basement at the Brown home all of the necessary paraphernalia for counterfeiting, including dies, lathes and hundreds of silver disks of the size of half dollars, quarters, nickles and himes. These were introduced in evidence. The arrest came, according to the testimony of the secret service man, after he had trailed Brown for weeks as the latter was visiting various Chicago business houses, purchasing the alleged counterfeiting outfit.

Ex-Senator William Acton in making the opening statement for the defense declared that it would be shown that Brown had purchased the outfit for the purpose of going into the medal advertising business. The defense will probably not have an inning until Wednesday morning. It is understood that when it opens its case, it will introduce as character witnesses many of the leading attorneys of the city.

Twenty-five of these attorneys have given a $10,000 bond for the defendant.

Brown, who comes of one of the most prominent families socially in Danville, was immediately, following his arrest last July, released on bond given by his father-in-law, Wesley Iles of Fairmount, Ill., who is worth $600,000. Three months ago, without explanation, the father-in-law withdrew from his bond.

United States Marshall Watts, who has an office in this city, started out to re-arrest his man again. He is a personal acquaintance of Brown, and as he approached him, the latter, innocent of his intentions, extended his hand and said, "Congratulate me, John, an eight-pound boy arrived at my house last night." When Marshall Watts notified him that he was under arrest again, Brown begged piteously for his freedom. He was compelled to spend the night in jail, however, and the following day his brother attorneys gave bond for his release.

PADEREWSKI-SYMPHONY CONCERT

The Symphony Society management have completed all arrangements for the handling of the big audience attending the Paderewski-Symphony Orchestra concert at the Coliseum on Wednesday evening.

"All persons will enter on the Washington avenue side, to which autos and carriages are directed to drive. These vehicles will be found after the recital on the Locust street side. Ticket-holders are requested to observe the location printed on their tickets and follow the direction as indicated. The left stairway leads to the balcony and parquet seats in sections 1 to 14; the right stairway to sections 15 to 28, and the main door to the boxes and arena floor. The concert will begin at 8:15 sharp. No one will be shown to a seat during the performance of a number. Members of the concert committee will wear a small white ribbon, ushers a red ribbon and doorkeepers and guides a blue ribbon.

Explains to the Public

Why most cathartics and laxatives do harm. New Treatment advocated.

Nearly all cathartics or laxative medicines ultimately do harm to the human system, because they act in such a drastic manner as to drain the natural fluids from either the liver, intestines or colon (large bowel). Calomel drains the liver and exhausts it, causing weakness and future trouble. Candy laxatives, syrups, salts and mineral waters drain the small intestines, causing abnormal secretions and inflammation while aloes drain and irritate the large bowel, causing griping and pain.

Remedies of this kind must be taken in ever increasing doses, which soon causes the membrane or mucus surfaces of the liver and bowels to harden and close the pores from which the natural moistening fluids come. The wonderful new drug compound known as cascaroyal pills (Blackburn's) is scientifically compounded so that the entire system is acted upon in a mild tonic manner and thus no single organ is depended on to relieve constipation. A mild, balmy, pleasurable physic is the result, as cascaroyal pills are made of such well known drugs as castor oil, cascara, wild lemon, black cherry, sulphur, ginger and the like. This cascaroyal pill purifies the blood and acts as a mild tonic too. The Blackburn Products Co. of Dayton, Ohio, will gladly send a free package to any one who suffers from the baneful effects of constipation and you are advised to write for it. Ten and twenty-five cent packages of this new treatment can be obtained of most any druggist. • • •

Habits Stick Like Tar

One is easy to "clear off," (the Coffee habit.)

The Way?

In place of Coffee, use well-made brewed a deep, rich, seal brown which turns to golden brown when good cream is added.

POSTUM

The flavour is all its own, similar however, to the mild flavour of Java.

A few days after the change is made from Coffee to Postum, one notices a distinct advance in health.

HABIT'S CHAIN

Certain Habits Unconsciously Formed and Hard to Break.

An ingenious philosopher estimates that the amount of will power necessary to break a life-long habit would, if it could be transformed, lift a weight of many tons.

It sometimes requires a higher degree of heroism to break the chains of a pernicious habit than to lead a forlorn hope in a bloody battle. A lady writes from an Indiana town:

"From my earliest childhood I was a lover of coffee. Before I was out of my teens I was a miserable dyspeptic, suffering terribly at times with my stomach.

"I was convinced that it was coffee that was causing the trouble, and yet I could not deny myself a cup for breakfast. At the age of 36 I was in very poor health, indeed. My sister told me I was in danger of becoming a coffee drunkard.

"But I never could give up drinking coffee for breakfast, although it kept me constantly ill, until I tried Postum. I learned to make it properly according to directions, and now we can hardly do without Postum for breakfast, and care nothing at all for coffee.

"I am no longer troubled with dyspepsia, do not have spells of suffering with my stomach that used to trouble me so when I drank coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ACTOR'S MOTHER ACCUSED OF SHOPLIFTING; HE FEARS HE IS JILTED BY SWEETHEART

Girl Opens Note, Written From Police Station by Fiance's Parent.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Mrs. Louise Peale of Boston, who is living with her son at the Hotel Bayard, in West Forty-ninth street, was arrested in a department store at Broadway and Thirty-fourth street yesterday, charged with stealing three pairs of silk and five pairs of cotton stockings. At the Night Court it was learned that Mrs. Peale was the mother of Melrose Peale, who, under the stage name of Wilson Melrose, plays the character of Redmond Lalain, in support of Miss Julia Marlowe, in "The Goddess of Reason," at Daly's Theater.

Mrs. Peale was first taken to the West Thirtieth Street Station, where she became hysterical and asked permission to write to her son.

The note arrived at the hotel when the son was absent and was opened by his fiancee, Miss Julia Davis. When the son and mother met in the Night Court, she broke down and sobbed: "I am so very sorry for this. I am afraid I am going to disgrace my son, and I would rather die than do that."

The son comforted her.

"Don't let Julia know of it," pleaded the mother.

"She already knows all about it. She got your note," was the reply.

"What will she say? What will she do?" she asked him.

"I am afraid it is all over between us," said the actor. Then, when his mother shook with grief, he soothed her by saying softly: "It's all right, mother. I am going to stick by you."

At 10:30 o'clock last night Mrs. Peale was held in the Night Court in $500 bail to appear for examination this morning.

Result of Her Engagement.

From Illustrated Bits.

"I am so happy," she said. "Ever since my engagement to Charlie the whole world seems different. I do not seem to be in dull, prosaic England, but"

"Lapland," suggested her little brother, who was doing his geography lesson.

SUBWAYS PLANNED FOR NEW YORK TO COST $50,000,000

Interborough Rapid Transit Co. Wants City to Advance Only $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Insistent demands for more subways bore fruit yesterday when Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., appeared before the Public Service Commission and announced that in a few days his company would file plans with the Commission for new subways to cost $50,000,000. Of this sum the company is to furnish $449,000,000 and the city $1,000,000.

It is generally believed that the Interborough will ask permission to build extensions of the present subway up Lexington avenue and down Seventh avenue from Forty-second street, making two parallel lines, one on the east side and one on the west. This is the plan the Interborough favored before the consolidation with the Metropolitan, but on which it failed to bid two years ago when the Ryan-Belmont merger had absolute control.

Church Gets a Mile of Pennies.

From the New York World.

One hundred persons are collecting one mile of pennies for the benefit of the Methodist Church in Great Barrington, Mass. Each solicitor has strips of gummed paper one foot in length and so arranged that 12 pennies may be placed on each strip. If the mile of pennies is secured the novel scheme will net the church $633.60. As a reward to ardent workers a straw ride will be given those who get five feet or more of cents.

Eczema Cured in Simple Way

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure the Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself.

The best skin specialists today are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin. For statistics show that nearly all eczema sufferers are perfectly healthy in all other ways except as to their skin. And if the eczema patients were really suffering from an internal malady, the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. This liquid kills the disease germs, while toning up the healthy part of the skin. For free sample bottle, which will instantly relieve the itch, write direct to the D. D. D. Laboratories, 112 Michigan St., Chicago, Ill.

We have now handled this meritorious and thoroughly scientific remedy for so long and have seen its reliable results so many times that we freely express our confidence.—Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington.

SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO OUST WATERS-PIERCE

Overruling of Attorney-General's Motion Big Victory for Oil Company.

STANDARD FINE STANDS

Indiana Company and Republic Denied Rehearing, Penalized $50,000 Each.

From a Post-Dispatch Staff Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 9.—The Supreme Court today overruled the motion of Attorney-General Major to oust the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. from Missouri because that corporation had failed to dissolve its connection with the Standard Oil Co., as required by the Supreme Court in its decision against the oil companies, in the suit brought by Attorney-General Hadley. Five judges favored the ruling. Woodson and Lamm dissented.

In the case of the Standard and Republic oil companies, the Court refused to grant a rehearing and the Court's ouster order against them stands.

The effect of these decisions is to expel the Standard and Republic oil companies from Missouri and to restore to the Waters-Pierce company, 60 per cent of whose stock is held by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, the right to do business within the State.

Standard Expected to Appeal.

The Standard Oil interests are expected to appeal from the decision and carry their case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The decision is considered a great victory for the Waters-Pierce interests, and comes as a surprise to Gov. Hadley and Attorney-General Major, who understood that under the terms of the Supreme Court's original decree the Waters-Pierce must not only part with the Standard Oil shareholdings, but effect a complete reorganization of its financial affairs.

The Waters-Pierce Oil Co.'s permit to remain in the State, given in this decision, is only temporary, as the order issued by the Court announces that it retains jurisdiction of the case so that it may, if it deems proper, set aside the order and make of full force the writ of ouster. Following is the order:

The Waters-Pierce Oil Co., having tendered in to the Court the amount of the fine imposed upon it by the judgment of this Court, and having given satisfactory evidence of its purpose henceforth to conduct its business so as not to violate the law of this State in regard to pools, trusts and conspiracies, it is ordered by the Court that the Clerk of this Court receive the money so tendered and pay the same into the Treasury; and it is further ordered that the judgment of this Court, of date Dec. 23, 1908, ousting the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. of its charter and adjudging all of its rights and privileges thereunder forfeited and annulled, be and the same is hereby suspended until otherwise ordered by the Court.

But the Court will retain jurisdiction of the cause for the purpose of setting aside and annulling this order or modifying the same, if the Court should hereafter, on motion of the Attorney-General, or its own motion, become satisfied that the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. is at that time, or has been, conducting its business in a manner forbidden by the law of this State in relation to pools, trusts and conspiracies.

Partnership Plan Ignored.

The Supreme Court ignored the Standard Oil Co.'s proposition to make the State a partner in the conduct of its business.

Chief Justice Gantt handed down the Court's decision, which was not accompanied in any case by written or oral opinion.

Attorney-General Major, informed of the Court's decision, said:

"The Supreme Court's decision simply means that the Waters-Pierce will not be ousted from the State at this time. However, the original judgment of the Court will stand against it, so that if it violates the Court's decree the State can renew its application for ouster.

The State asked that the Court make the ouster decree immediately, as we contended the Waters-Pierce company had not complied with the conditions laid down by the Supreme Court in the first instance."

Gov. Hadley refused to discuss the Supreme Court ruling. In controversy with Judge Priest he contended that Waters-Pierce, Republic and Standard should be fed out of "same iron spoon." The Waters-Pierce he said had done everything charged against Standard Oil in violating Missouri anti-trust laws.

Judge Woodson's Dissent.

Judge Woodson, who wrote the dissenting opinion, in which Judge Lamm concurred, quoted the return made by the Waters-Pierce company when it paid its fine and the statute under which the companies were prosecuted.

The Court had ordered the Waters-Pierce company to pay a fine of $50,000 and furnish satisfactory proof that it had severed all trust relations with any company violating the law. Judge Woodson says the company complied with the first part, but did not comply with the last.

"Has the company complied with that requirement?" he asks. "If so, it has furnished this Court with no evidence whatever of the fact. The only evidence filed herein for all purposes is as follows:

"This company (naming the Waters-Pierce Oil Co.), protesting that it has never consciously or knowingly violated any of the provisions of the laws of this State, nevertheless does hereby accept the terms and conditions of the order or decree * * * entered in the cause * * * and does hereby express its willingness to abide by the same.

"Clearly," Judge Woodson says, "the company does not, by the use of that language, intend to convey the idea to the Court that it has in fact severed its trust relations with any one, but, upon the contrary, it states that it has 'never consciously or knowingly violated' the anti-trust laws of this State.

"That is equivalent to saying it has not complied with that requirement of the judgment for the reason that it is ignorant of ever maintaining a pool, trust or combination in restraint of trade, then, of course, it would be nonsense to contend that it has severed its trust relations with its correspondents and other persons.

"In other words, if it did not belong to the trust and combination, it could not sever its relation with those trusts or combinations. That is a self-evident proposition."

"Not only that, but that statement is not true in point of fact, for it has not only violated the anti-trust laws of the State as was found to be true by the unanimous opinion of the Court heretofore handed down, in this case, but it also had knowledge thereof for the reason that the record in this case conclusively shows that for years it has been violating, not only the laws of this State, but has been violating similar laws of other states and has during all that time been engaged in scheming and working out plans and means by which those laws could be violated with impunity and at the same time conceal that fact from the officers of the law and thereby escape just punishment.

Ignorance Threadbare Plea.

"The records in this case conclusively shows, and we so found in express terms, that the scheme of conspiracy adopted in this case was entered into for the very purpose of concealing its lawlessness, and it was upon that conspiracy and knowledge that the information of the Attorney-General, Herbert S. Hadley, was based, and upon which respondents were found and adjudged guilty, and at this late day again to advance that false and threadbare plea of not guilty in order to escape the judgment of ouster rendered therein, is, to say the least, a most unique proceeding in our jurisprudence."

After saying that at best the Waters-Pierce Co. is a selling agent of the Standard Ooil Co. and is controlled by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, Judge Woodson says:

Shouldn't Perpetuate Trust.

"In my judgment this court should not, under that flimsy, gauzy makeshift, perpetuate and strengthen the 'Oil Trust' now existing in this State which has proven so injurious to the people hereof and which will prove to be of greater damage to them in the future, if this illegal, unjust and iniquitous scheme is permitted to go through.

"The judgment of ouster heretofore entered against the respondents completely destroyed the Oil Trust of this State and it should not be resuscitated under any conditions or pretexts whatsoever and to do so would work an irreparable injury upon the people of the State and would be absolutely inexcusable and indefensible.

Judge Woodson advocated fining the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana $1,000,000 and permitting it to continue to do business in Missouri on conditions of such control by the State as would furnish the people oil and keep down exorbitant prices. The company has taken more than $1,000,000 from the people unlawfully, he says, and should pay it back in fines.

UNPROFITABLE RATE GUESSING.

The only principle involved in the decision of Judge McPherson on the maximum freight and passenger rate laws is the constitutional safeguard against the confiscation of property. The decision was based wholly upon the question of the fairness of the rates—did they prevent the railroads from making reasonable profits on their business? The Supreme Court is the final judge of the correct theory of computing expenses and earnings. If the Supreme Court sustains Judge McPherson's view the State will be left as it was before, with power to regulate the rates of railroads, but under the necessity of fixing rates which will permit the railroads to make fair returns according to the approved methods of computing earnings and expenses of business within the State.

The practical effect of the decision is a condemnation of the State Legislature's method of fixing the rates. Instead of thorough inquiry and careful computation to ascertain what would be reasonable rates the Legislature based the rate on arbitrary guesswork. According to Judge McPherson it guessed wrong and the legislation must be made over. Much time has been lost.

The veto of a similar arbitrary rate bill by Gov. Hughes of New York is justified by this decision. The commission plan of regulating rates is sound and sensible. Experts should first ascertain what rates would be just by careful examination of the conditions of the railroad business within the State, and their findings should guide the Legislature to a just conclusion. All of the rate-regulating efforts of the states must be readjusted to the rules of business.

THE PROPHETS VINDICATED.

Mr. Willis L. Moore's explanation of the inauguration blizzard, which came down on Washington immediately after he had predicted lovely weather is a convincing demonstration of the scientific value of the official weather forecasts.

It had to do with "highs" and "lows" and probably with "longs" and "shorts." The sum of it was that the conjunction of highs and lows was unprecedented, unheard of, and so unconventional as to be positively indecent. Of course, prophets must be excused if storms are wayward and tornadoes are flighty and uncertain. If air currents and temperature do not follow the "law," as generalized from a mass of successful and unsuccessful guesses, so much the worse for the air currents and temperature. The prophet is at least loyal to his law. He is a law-abiding prophet. And didn't Coleridge say that "in the knowledge of law only, dwell power and prophecy"?

Mr. Moore and his school of prophets are all right. It was the blizzard; that was the offender; the blizzard was all wrong.

WOMAN'S BUCKET HARBINGER.

Ominous among the elsewhere welcome harbingers of spring is the young woman who has just arrived in New York from Paris wearing a bucket-shaped hat 10 inches high with a huge ostrich feather trailing from its front and flanked by vizor flaps on each side.

Just as the first bluebird of the vernal season is sure to be followed by myriads of its fellows, so does this ungainly and forbidding exhibition of feminine headwear promise to be but the advance guard of whole cities full of similar atrocities. The eye may shrink from it, appalled, the soul may cry out against it, dismayed, but all to no purpose. The stamp of the "mode" is upon it and the aspiration of womankind will not be satisfied until the fire-bucket helmet materializes in response to each individual aspiration. This is the way of woman.

And, as has been the inexorable rule of centuries, a meek submission is imperative. Hats off to the bucket-shaped hat!—the only hope is that its grotesque reign may be brief in proportion to the fickle fancy of its wearers.

The newspaper reports of the statement of expenditures last year for road purposes by Road Commissioner William Ebring of St. Louis County upon which the Post-Dispatch based a comment gave an erroneous impression of the amount paid out for salaries of overseers and inspectors. The total amount drawn by overseers for salary was $10,954.06 and the larger amount of $58,505.66 credited to salaries, included both salaries and bills for actual work. The inference that there was a large rakeoff for salaries was not therefore justified.

WHAT DO THE PEOPLE THINK?

The newspaper's function is not limited to informing and molding public opinion by publishing facts and its own views of their significance and of the action required by public interests. It is not limited to the expression of its own opinion of public questions. Often it is desirable to know what the people themselves think—to publish their views of a situation affecting their interests.

The direct expression of popular opinion may be especially valuable in a local campaign, such as that now pending in this city, wherein vital public interests are involved. The views of individuals, not candidates or politicians, without special ends to serve, about the parties and the forces they represent, the candidates and their fitness, the action which would best serve the public interests and the general political situation may be very helpful in guiding the people to a right conclusion at the polls.

The Post-Dispatch will give the people of St. Louis an opportunity to express their opinions concerning the election. We want intelligent opinions, brief and to the point. We will not print abuse of leaders or candidates, nor do we want mere eulogy. We want reasons for the opinion expressed. The letters should not exceed 150 words each. Signatures, of course, add to their value. The letters should pertain to the following question:

What should the voters do in the April election to promote the best interests of the city? Consider the parties as organized and directed; Consider each ticket as a whole and the individual candidates.

ONLY ONE LIFE.

There is one flaw in the feeling of relief and security produced by the inauguration of Mr. Taft.

There is only one life between James S. Sherman and the presidency.

Five presidents have died in office, or nearly one in five. Mr. Taft has a great host of admirers who, without regard to party sentiment, wish him a successful administration and long life for his own sake, and they will pray for his health and life with double fervor when they reflect what a pity it would be to deprive Mr. Sherman of the Vice-Presidency.

HISTORICAL MUSEUM IN THE PARK.

Park Commissioner Scanlan should be commended for his general policy, which insists upon keeping the parks clear of all but public uses.

But is it not pedantic to apply the rule in the case of the Missouri Historical Museum? That institution is purely public in its spirit and purpose and this is not less a fact because the management and operation are in private control. There is a private golf club in the park, exclusively for the use of members who pay initiation fees and dues. There is nothing but private interest in it. But Mr. Scanlan has not, so far as we know, ever taken steps to turn it out.

The further objection that no building should be erected in the parks not connected with out door recreation and amusements would exclude several museums from Central Park, New York. But though that is a smaller park than Forest Park and the museums are in private control they are considered attractive features and certainly do not interfere with out-door pleasure which make the primary purpose of the park.

The Missouri Historical Society is not a private enterprise. It owns large and valuable archeological and historical collections which, if housed in the park would be of very great worth to the public. It would be to further the public uses of the park if an acre or so were set apart for a museum and grounds.

No precedent helpful to invasion by private interest can be drawn from such a use. If Mr. Scanlan is afraid of that, and it is fortunate for the city that he is, the golf club is a more appropriate object for his hostility.

FACT AND FICTION ON TRIAL.

Poets and playwrights and novelists and all other sentimentalists will doubtless hail with delight the real-life predicament of the Kentucky girl who now must needs find a sweetheart and with him hasten to the hymeneal altar in order to inherit a legacy of $50,000 thus conditionally left her by her uncle.

The situation is one that has long done arduous duty in song and story, rare though its actual existence in this everyday world, and it now remains to be seen if the romance which it inevitably compels in fiction will materialize in fact. The heroine of the cast is named—the next to emerge upon the stage must be the hero, and, following him, the villain, each intent upon being the one through whose help the Kentucky heiress shall be enabled to qualify for her inheritance.

Let us hope, the scene being laid in Kentucky, that a thrilling "heart interest" story is now on the verge of development. It will be deplorable if the $50,000 goal is reached without the complications which we have been taught to regard as inseparable from such a situation.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

To Hear Paderewski.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Would like to know if some arrangements cannot be made with the railroad companies running from St. Louis to suburbs and towns around St. Louis whereby they will put on special trains March 10, 1909, for the benefit of residents of such towns who would like to attend the "Paderewski concert?" This is an opportunity of a lifetime to hear this great artist and there are a great many people in towns around St. Louis who would like to come in, providing they can get in and back home on the trains.

SUBURBANITE.

Sidewalks Wanted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Now that the nominations are over, let the residents who have to use King's highway find out the officials who are in favor of having sidewalks laid immediately, and support them. There are no sidewalks on King's highway from Gibson avenue north to McKinley avenue. If we can get sidewalks, we can wait for the "beautiful boulevard," but to be without sidewalks on such a prominent thoroughfare is an injustice to the city as well as to the residents of that locality.

RESIDENT.

Restitution by Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If a man steals $10 from another person, the wronged person will set the machinery of the law to work. Why? To get back his $10. But he seldom gets his money. The thief is punished by going to jail. This is where the law fails. Laws should compel offenders to return that which was taken, and to pay also for costs of prosecution to discourage the recurrence of the offense.

THEODORE.

The Dangerous P-A-Y-E Car.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The recent fire panic on a P-A-Y-E car shows that we have permitted a street car monopoly to establish a system which could not be maintained if there were any competition in street car transportation. To do away with this dangerous system, let the United Railways Co. establish their own ticket offices at convenient corners, or arrange with drug stores for branch offices where street car tickets can be purchased. Then let the company require the patrons to pay their tickets as they enter, or to pay 5 cents extra for fares paid on the car. This would protect the street car company from fraud by dishonest conductors and at the same time the patron would not be inconvenienced by helping the conductor do his work of making change on the car. At the same time it would give the street car company the opportunity to use swinging doors that would enable the patrons to make the quickest possible exit from cars in case of panic. Emergency latches could be placed on the car doors that would prevent patrons from getting off the cars while in motion.

The nickelodeons are being spoiled by the would-be professors with their stereopticon views of Panama and Central America. Up-to-date songs and pretty pictures, along with a first-class line of moving pictures, is what the patrons of these theaters wish to see. The theaters would do a better business if they would keep historians and lantern-jawed singers away from the place. I am not speaking for myself, but for many visitors of a certain theater.

A PATRON.

Elections and Business.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Under our present system we lose practically two years of business stability on account of having an election one year and an uncertainty of the policy of the incoming administration running over into the next year until such a late time that really the fall business is upon us before business men really know where they stand and what to expect. I suggest that you start a movement to have our conventions early in the presidential year; to have the campaign closed and the election taking place not later than the first Tuesday in August and the new President inaugurated not later than the first Tuesday in November following. With such an arrangement, our whole business structure would not be in a state of uncertainty but a few months. There is no question but if Mr. Taft had been elected and inaugurated by Nov. 1 of last year we would today be doing business on a settled basis and business men would know what to expect and where they stand.

Woman's Right to Work.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

An Old Bachelor, in discussing the working woman, lays the blame of all our economic evils upon her alone. He says "she prefers to work in an office or shop rather than to be independent in marriage." How much "independence" has a wife? She hasn't a cent that she can call her own except what her husband gives her. In the most of families this sum isn't given till it's asked for and is irregular as to amount or date. Sometimes he won't give her any. Sometimes he hasn't any to give. Besides, the case of the drunken and shiftless husband, there is the wife who struggles to care for a family of five or six, often more, on a meager and uncertain wage and starves "independently" with him when the job fails. If there is often good reason for the wife's working, there is still better reason for the girl being employed. First, it relieves the country of one of our greatest evils and chief cause of divorce—the economic marriage. Later, when a girl does marry, for love, she will know how hardly money is earned, how to spend to advantage, had to go out and support her children if it becomes necessary. She will have learned patience and toleration and tact. As to the proposed law prohibiting any girl from working without a commissioner's certificate, showing dire need, no law is a good one if based solely on sex. Laws represent the safeguarding of human rights, not sex rights, and should be of an equal application. What is "necessity" to one person might not be to another.

FRIGHTENED.

THE TRIBUNE'S BRAVE PROTEST.

From the New York World.

In another column of this page we reprint the courageous protest made by the New York Tribune, the leading Republican party organ in the United States, against the Roosevelt press persecutions and the attempt of the Federal authorities to drag editors from New York and Indianapolis to Washington for trial under the English common law of 1662.

United States District Attorney Kealing of Indianapolis has resigned his office rather than be a party to these proceedings, which he denounced as "striking at the very foundation of our form of government." Now comes another emphatic expression of dissent from the New York Tribune, which has been and still is the great organ of the Republican national administration, its chief proprietor, Mr. Whitelaw Reid, being the American Ambassador to Great Britain, an office to which he was appointed by Mr. Roosevelt. The Tribune, in its editorial unquestionably expresses the principles and earnest convictions of Mr. Reid himself. It repeats the very arguments which it made 13 years ago, when Mr. Reid was its active editor, against the attempt to drag Mr. Dana of the Sun to Washington for trial on a similar charge. Menacing as was the Dana case to the liberty of the press, it was far less serious than this Roosevelt persecution; for the complaint against Mr. Dana was made by a bona fide resident of the District of Columbia.

We believe that the Tribune, in voicing this protest, is voicing the opinion of most thoughtful Republicans and of most thoughtful citizens. Every responsible newspaper stands squarely on Elihu Root's argument in the Dana case: "He writes his editorial with the specific intent that it shall be published at the place of publication, which is here fixed in the indictment as the City of New York. It is published here; he is responsible civilly and criminally for that."

There is no disposition to evade such civil and criminal responsibility. As we said in reply to Mr. Roosevelt's message of Dec. 15: "If The World has libeled anybody we hope it will be punished." The place to punish it, if it is guilty, is in the State of New York, in the courts of New York and under the laws of New York."

JUST A MINUTE FOR VERSE AND HUMOR

Written for the Post-Dispatch by Clark McAdams.

RUBAIYAT OF A DUCKSHOOTER.

STRANGE, is it not? though a piece of gold
Would buy all the ducks this sack will hold,
Not one true son of Nimrod cares for them
Save that he shot them when his feet were cold.

And yet not strange at all. The bracing air,
The world forgotten with its round of care,
And in the myriad and broken reeds
Aeolus singing to the naiads there.

Get down—get down! Alas, too high!
As I was saying, and the bending sky
Of amethyst and such tints of blue
As mirror Heaven in a maiden's eye.

To rise in darkness, and to seek the brake,
And there with water in your boots to shake
Is madness, maybe—but how many men
Can say that they have seen the world awake?

How many men have stood beneath the wide
Dark skies of night and seen Aurora ride
Over the edge of earth, and thought upon
The miracle of day and much beside?

Quack-quack! They're coming! Quack! Quack-quack!
Now let them have it! Crack! Crack-crack!
How Grover Cleveland would have thrilled to hear
That mallard hit the water on his back!

THE STEAMBOAT BUSINESS.

Some day we shall honor the men who kept the steamboat business alive in the interim between low railroad rates and deep water.

Opposed to their genius all obstacles are futile. They go right on making money as if the nearest railroad were in Iceland. They have first-class and beautiful boats, and run them in and out on schedule time just as if we had fourteen feet through the valley and had had it all the time if one knew where to look for it. If there were no water at all they would continue running their boats on time through the mud. If there were no freight they would invent and handle something just as profitable as freight. If railroads paralleled the Mississippi on both sides so close that the trainmen could spit in the river, they would still steam up and down, loaded to the guards, and wonder if the wives and children of the Harrimans, Goulds, Vanderbilts and Hills e[illegible] get anything to eat.

These [illegible] have got Hermann the Great a[illegible] the other magicians lashed to the [illegible]stan. The curiosity to know how they do it amounts to a delirium, and the result is that a good many other people go into the steamboat business one way and another and serve to swell the volume of traffic. These latter are in the main doing very well to hold their own, and every now and then one of them blows up with a detonation that rattles the windows on the river front. If the few geniuses of river traffic were not turning a dollar over right alongside them every time they throw one up they would neither attempt to do it themselves nor believe that it can be done.

And some men can do it. If they couldn't, no one else would try it, there wouldn't be any steamboats, Congress would not make any appropriations for snagboats and dredges, the Government would let its pilot lights go out, and every time we went to Washington and urged Congress to revive river traffic, Senator Burton would throw his hands up and exclaim:

"'Sh! Don't wake the dead."

RECAPITULATION.

We have lost the 2-cent rate case. We pay 3 cents, even as it was in the beginning. In addition, we have lost our passes, which we might just as well have now, for all we have gained by giving them up.

Nobody, apparently, took Just a Minutes' advice. Time and again we urged:

First. That everybody travel as much as possible in the period when the courts were endeavoring to ascertain if the railroads make money at 2 cents.

Second. That the State also employ experts with figures similar to those retained by the railroads, in order that we might confuse the courts as much as the other side and thus stand an equal chance to win.

So far from acting upon this advice, nobody traveled but a few drummers, and the State went into court without anybody able to prove that 6 and 7 make 10, 12 or 22, according to necessity.

The result was that the railroads were able to show a loss in passenger receipts under the 2-cent rate, and the expert mathematicians upon the other side bowled our lawyers over with a single broadside from their trick tariff sheets.

MRS. A. A.—Let the matter rest as it is and if a disturbance is created on giving notice call an officer; you might mention to one beforehand the trouble you expect and have him stay within call. You are probably needlessly frightened; the party would hardly do as you say and is merely bluffing; do some of that yourself, or have her placed under peace bond.

If you wish to paper the ceiling, treat it as the walls, and after the newspaper covering has dried, hang the wallpaper. It will go on smoothly and stay after it is on.

UNDER THE HONEYMOON

No. 1— "Would You Love Me If I Wee Crazy?" Asked the Blushing Bride.

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH.

"JACK," said the bride, "I want to ask you a question."

It was during a lucid interval of the honeymoon's first week, and the bride and bridegroom sat on the front porch of a big house by the sea which had been lent to them for this dulcet occasion by the bride's uncle.

NIXOLA GREELEY SMITH

The bride had looked up from the French book she was reading — she was reading merely in self-defense because the bridegroom had betrayed an unbecoming interest in the arrival of the Sunday papers now spread before him. He had indeed walked all the way down to the front gate to hail the newsman jogging comfortably along the glistening Long Island road. This was base treason, and the bride had sulked for three whole minutes.

She Tore the Paper Away

"Well, what is it?" asked the bridegroom. But his eyes did not lift from their rapt scrutiny of the "Standing of the Clubs."

"Would you," purred the bride, "would you love me"——

"What are you blushing about?" interpolated the bridegroom.

"Would you love me?" she pursued, ignoring the interruption, "if I were crazy?"

The bridegroom laughed and forgot momentarily the baseball score. "You ARE crazy," he said.

"Only about you," the bride admitted. Then, for fear he might take the admission too seriously and presume upon it, she added, hastily, "that's a joke."

"Oh, it's a joke, is it?"

The bridegroom crossed the three steps that separated him from the bride's chair, grabbed her up and held her suspended in the air, the French heels of her bronze slippers dangling helplessly.

"Oh, my dress!" she wailed. "You're mussing my ruffles dreadfully. Well, there, then, I do love you—really," she capitulated, leisurely back in her chair she began to burlesque the confession. "I love you fondly, madly, with a Florentine frenzy—I heard that once in a play." Then, as the bridegroom began to search among the mass of crumpled newspapers for the sporting page, she hurried on.

"But I was serious in that question I asked you. You see, this French book tells the story of a man who is very much in love with his wife, but she goes crazy, and it's all about whether he ought to—well—you know—whether he ought to"——

The bride stopped short and blushed again more furiously than before.

"Whether he ought to be true to her or not," she finished breathlessly. "Now, would you?"

The bridegroom threw down his paper again. He had learned in three days that such questions from the bride must be taken with the utmost seriousness; that for the moment, at least, she thought her eternal happiness hung upon his answer. Nevertheless, he could not resist the temptation of—I regret to say the bridegroom might have called it "getting her goat."

"Is there any insanity in your family?" he asked, sepulchrally.

"...o; that is—I think not,' gasped the bride.

"Then what are you worrying about?"

"Why, because I don't want you to love me now if you won't love me just as much when I'm old and ugly or have had smallpox or gone crazy. You're all the time telling me about my pretty eyes of my pretty hair or my pretty hands. What do I care about them? Other women have those things. At least, some other women. I want you to love me just because I'm ME."

"All right." The bridegroom was deep in his paper again. The bride glared at the paper then at him. Suddenly she arose from her chair, tiptoed behind the bridegroom and, seizing the sporting page in her dimpled hands, tore it viciously into shreds. "There!" she said triumphantly. The bridegroom's eyes flashed.

"You must have felt it coming on—the attack, I mean," he said coldly. Tears swelled in the bride's wide, brown eyes.

"You love that silly old paper more than you do me," she said, accusingly. Then, perilously near to sobbing, she continued: "I don't want you to read. I want to go down to the beach. I want"——

"Well, come on down to the beach," said the bridegroom, grabbing her hand and racing her at top speed down the hill and out the gate to where, past the road and through fields, the ocean with its Sunday mood upon it lay almost at peace.

They Sat on the Beach

They did not know whether they sat on the beach for hours or moments. Hand in hand they watched the little ocean—such a little ocean; so much shallower than their love so much narrower than their understanding of each other. Tiny, white frilled waves raced toward them and, as the tide came in, lapped the points of the little bride's bronze slippers. And she laughed, and the bridegroom laughed. Above them the noon sky hung like an inverted sapphire cup from which happiness was being showered from heaven. The bride's arms stole about the bridegroom's neck, while far out on a dancing yacht anchored in the bay a fieldglass was levelled at her and the world-weary woman who held it smiled.

"You would love me if I were crazy?" murmured the bride.

"Certainly," laughed the bridegroom; "it's great to be crazy." Then he kissed the bride. "It's the greatest thing in the world."

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Jack Bookfield, a Louisville (Ky.) gambler, gives a supper at his rooms. His guests are his sister, Mrs. Campbell; his niece, Viola; his former sweetheart, Mrs. Whipple, and her son Clay (who loves Viola) and Frank Hardmuth, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney. Hardmuth proposes to Viola and is snubbed. Bookfield becomes aware of a subtle power he possesses whereby he can influence the gaze of others. He sees and is strangely interested in Justice Prattice, who explains to him this power. Denning, a rich spendthrift, comes to the house for a game of poker. Clay, finding himself alone with Viola, proposes and is accepted. Jack renews his old-time suit for Mrs. Whipple's hand. As he refuses to give up gambling she rejects him. Clay, tormented by Denning, strikes the latter dead with a heavy paper knife.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE law is terrible in its earnestness. However insignificant its various human instruments may be, there is a compelling majesty about the spirit of the law itself when once that spirit is invoked. The detached juryman, unlettered, uninformed, simple and primitive in his mental processes, less than unimportant in his social usefulness or position, associated with 11 of his kind, forms a body ominous and imposing, when endowed with the legal and awe-inspiring function of verdict.

The trial of the case of The People vs. Whipple was a cause celebre. The youth of the prisoner and his respectable connections, his education, the unprovoked character of his crime as the police understood it; the almost deliberate killing of a friend who had only ridiculed him, and quite playfully at that, concerning his lack of skill at billiards; the promised revelations of the interior of a notorious gambling house, always a place of curiosity to the newspaper reader, together with other factors, combined to stimulate an interest in the proceedings.

After the first day or two the distinction of the prisoner's friends who were with him in the courtroom, and especially the reported beauty of his sweetheart, increased the general wish to be present.

Nor was there anything deterring in the reputation of counsel. The victim had been the son of one of Missouri's wealthiest packers. According to the newspapers, the attitude of this man toward the accused was one of great vengefulness. His money had been freely offered to assist the attorneys for the State in retaining associate counsel; it had also been used to secure the services of physicians of national reputation who, it was understood, would testify in rebuttal of certain other eminent specialists secured by the defense.

Although the case for the people was ostensibly in the hands of the prosecuting attorney, its directing genius was that officer's assistant, Mr. Hardmuth.

The associated counsel for the defense were misled by the prosecution's apparent indifference to the character of the jurymen during their selection. These legal gentlemen even began to hope that some covert leniency was to be indulged in by the representatives of the State.

It was Brookfield who, sitting with the family during those two or three preliminary days, and occasionally consulting with the lawyers for the defense, had discovered what ultimately proved to be the guiding intention in the prosecution's selection of the jury. This discovery may have been due to Brookfield's keen knowledge of human nature, surpassing, perhaps, that of the counsel; it may have been due to an especial knowledge of the character of Hardmuth; or it may have been due, as Brookfield himself began to suspect, to some subtle telepathic relation between the prosecutor and himself.

The outline of the State's case removed all doubt as to their method. According to the calm, judicial, regretful utterances of the State's attorney, the 12 men in the double row of tilting swivel-chairs were called together to hear the story of a deliberate and spiteful killing—a killing of one friend by another, who had been frequently a beneficiary of the man he had made his victim, who had been frequently the antagonist of that man in games of chance, for which games the two had often met in the house where the tragedy occurred. The prisoner had been a ruinous loser, had lost sums considerable to himself, but of no importance to his victim who had won them. This regularity of loss and envy of the prisoner for the better fortune, both at cards and in life, which the dead man had enjoyed had built up in the heart of the prisoner a hate of his companion as deep and as enduring as it had been gradual in growth; it was a hate none the less terrible because its object was unaware of its existence. The poor boy who had been killed on the night in question had indulged only in such simple raillery as one friend directs against another inept in any game of skill, and especially where there were ladies among the spectators. This raillery was of a character that would have been accepted as evidence of friendliness by any man in the jurybox—it would have called for nothing more severe than a retort in kind, or some romping push with the shoulder, some slap on the back, or other rough playfulness. The man now dead, the former friend of the prisoner, had been slightly intoxicated—that would be shown by the State and would be admitted by the defense. He was in a condition in which even had his aggression not been friendly, even had his wish been to inflict bodily injury upon the prisoner, he could not have been dangerous to the prisoner himself, who had not been drinking on that evening, who was, as the jury might see, a young man of athletic build, and who had been at the time surrounded by several persons more friendly to himself than to his victim. The prosecution would show that the prisoner had been in no peril whatever, that he could not have acted in self-defense, that he could not have thought he was so acting, that the motive had been hate, that the intent had been murder, that the weapon had been lethal and deadly.

When the taking of testimony was begun the bare facts of the tragedy were simply outlined. That at one time in his annoyance Denning had waved a scarf-pin in front of the prisoner the prosecution itself established. The scarf-pin, being a small object, was passed to the jury so that each member of that body might see it for himself. The cat's-eye was handled with bovine indifference by the jurymen, to some subtle telepathic relation between the prosecutor and himself.

"Do you see the gentleman in the courtroom?"

"Dr. Lane is dead."

"Oh—well, that's too bad. He died recently?"

"No, sir—Dr. Lane has been dead some years."

"Do you mind telling the jury, Mrs. Whipple, how old you were at the time of Dr. Lane's death—or about how old?"

"I think I was 17 years of age when Dr. Lane died."

"At that time you were completely cured of this difficulty?"

"Yes, sir."

"You say this same idiosyncrasy made its appearance in your son?"

"Yes, sir."

"Sufficiently to require medical attention?"

"Yes, sir."

"What physician treated him?"

"He was treated by his father, Dr. Whipple.

"By any other physician?"

"Not that I remember."

"No specialist was called in?"

"No, sir—none was nedded. Dr. Whipple was himself one of the most skilled physicians in Philadelphia."

"I have no doubt of that. Did your husband make a specialty of nervous troubles?"

"No, sir—Dr. Whipple was a general practitioner."

"That is all, Mrs. Whipple.

Hardmuth smiled.

The jury retired. Word came from their room that there was little prospect of an agreement at 10 o'clock that night, and the Court, which had taken a recess, adjourned until the following morning, leaving the members of the Brookfield household to a night of harrowing suspense.

The verdict in the morning was "Guilty." The wise attorneys in charge of the prisoner's case believed that they had saved sufficient exceptions to the ruling of the Court—that the Court had made errors enough to give them an appeal.

CHILDHOOD'S SWEET-TOOTH

Dangers and Benefits of a Candy Diet. Written for the Post-Dispatch

By MARGARET HUBBARD AYER

ALL children love candy. It is the sweet tooth of childhood that craves satisfaction in any sugary concoction that comes its way, whether it is a lump of sugar or an all-day sucker, the most pernicious form in infantile sweetmeat ever devised. What are the mothers thinking of, I wonder; or perhaps they do not know that their young people are filling themselves with unwholesome ice cream sandwiches early in the morning or have provided themselves with the already mentioned all-day sucker (cost, 1 cent) which lasts throughout most of the afternoon, and is indeed a sweet solace until supper time, for which meal all appetite has fled.

The result is decaying teeth, chronic indigestion and a dozen other ills of more or less seriousness.

I know of one woman who kept a two-pound box of candy in her wardrobe and dosed her delicate, half-sick children alternately with medicine and candy. The former is about as bad as the latter unless given advisedly.

"Take a dose of this nice medicine, my pet," she would say, "and you may have a chocolate drop afterwards to take away the taste."

She used to spend an hour or so every few days making chocolate fudge for the children, and her little boy had already made two visits to the dentist at the age of 5. Fortunately they were his baby teeth that ached and disintegrated so alarmingly, but with an unlimited allowance of candy. I have grave fears for the second. However, one does not often see mothers who fly in the face of Providence to the extent of this indulgent woman, but the truth was she herself had an insatiable sweet tooth.

It is the candy bought from push carts and at the corner groceries, and eaten without the mother's knowledge that does the mischief. This candy is only too apt to be unwholesome and impure, covered with dust from the streets and colored with dangerous coloring material.

This is a wonderful country for candy, the most wonderful in the world. It has more varieties and it costs less. But that's the trouble, it costs too little and is too easily obtained. A child goes forth gayly with one cent and buys a piece of candy that is so craftily concocted as to last all the afternoon, giving forth an unremitting stream of limpid sweetness.

There is a kind of candy sold on the streets in Rome and Florence and other Italian cities which, I believe, is more innocent of impurity at least than some of the push cart candy here. It is made of various kinds of fruits dipped in boiling sugar and stuck onto a long straw or stick.

HOW TO SPEND FIVE THOUSAND A DAY.

Letters From Readers of the Post-Dispatch in Competition for Prizes Tell How They Would Dispose of Mrs. Green's Income.

Build a Clean City.

Prize Editor Post-Dispatch.

If I had $5000 a day I would spend it in the United States. I would buy several hundred acres in St. Louis County and on it I would build small, comfortable, cheerful homes. Then I would search St. Louis for the worthy poor and place them in these homes. Then I would start a manufacturing plant near by so that they would all have employment. That would take about $3000 a day. Then I would spend $1500 a day toward beautifying St. Louis and make it one of the cleanest and the most beautiful city in the world. I would spend $500 a day improving public roads in Missouri, $300 a day for hospital funds for the poor, $500 a day for a home for homeless girls who are without a home, $50 a day for missions, $25 a day toward my church, $100 a day in beautifying my home and surroundings and helping my father and the remainder of $25 a day toward cheering the sick and the suffering.

Farms for Poor Folk.

Prize Editor Post-Dispatch.

With $5000 daily income would make extensive land purchases in Texas or elsewhere, get best students of soil to start such crops as were best adapted to soil, climate, etc. Upon demonstrating its success on a small scale would obtain more land, with diversified crops, study construction of houses from economy, convenience and sanitary standpoints, strive always toward improvement in style, adopt all modern real conveniences, strive to produce improved crops and install experimental branches with the idea of outburbanking Burbank. Would pick up old and middle-aged men, who have so far failed to make what is commonly thought a "success" of life, imbue the older ones with the idea that they have all the advantages (with the additional advantage of experience and tempered judgment) of the younger ones, except physical strength and enthusiasm, which they can recover under proper conditions, school each one with competent advisors so as to get each to handle his allotment of land (rented to him free) on a successful, paying basis. What a God-send to numerous persons, now simply drifting, existing amid squalid, unsanitary conditions, in germ-laden air of thickly-populated cities, without hope for the future, and with poorly nourished and diseased bodies, to get out in the fresh sunlit air, with all conveniences and none of the disadvantages of city life, removed from the struggle of the present merciless competition, undermining the nervous system of the nation.

Fat Is Out of Style

To paraphrase Caesar's remark, the directoire gown came—was seen—and has conquered. So fat ladies are reduced, so to speak, to the necessity of either reducing at a very rapid rate or eliminating themselves from public view until the fashion dies out. Otherwise they risk being ridiculous.

Since many fat ladies will not eliminate themselves, however, but, per contra, will insist on wearing the curveless gown, no course is open to this well-meaning scribe other than to tell them how they may eliminate the fat.

What is there, then, that reduces fat safely? What pleasant, inexpensive article is there on druggists' shelves that can reduce a pound a day without causing wrinkles or stomachache? What can the pharmacists offer as an improvement over scanty victuals or ten-mile walks without breakfast? Is there anything pleasant to take and inexpensive to buy that will reduce one uniformly, quickly and innocently thirty pounds a month? Here is the answer: Either write the Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., or ask your local druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets, and for 75 cents they or he will give you one large case of these safe fat reducers, containing so generous a quantity of tablets that sometimes one case only is needed to produce the desired results. Can you match that for a simple solution of your problem?—ADV.

WHEN THE MOON IS FULL THE INSANE WARD IS ALSO FULL

Warden of California Hospital Needs More Room on Moonlight Nights.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 9.—In a petition for the enlargement of the insane ward of the Oakland Receiving Hospital, Warden Imlay states that the place is always overcrowded when the moon is full.

"My records substantiate the fact that the insane ward is always overcrowded when the moon is full," he says.

The records kept by Imlay show that when the moon is not full, two patients a week is the average, but when the queen of the night begins to wax the insane begin to arrive until the cells are crowded beyond their normal capacity.

TAX ASSESSMENTS OF 12,000 DELINQUENTS TO BE DOUBLED

The Board of Equalization, as named by the Circuit Judges in general term, consists of William B. Homer, attorney; Richard P. McClure, builder; Charles Z. Trembly, real estate, and William C. Uhri, ice and coal dealer. The Board will meet in the office of John J. O'Brien, president of the Board of Assessors, at the City Hall.

President O'Brien has ordered the general personal property assessment of $150 doubled in the cases of 12,000 delinquent tax payers. This will add $66,600 to the city's revenue. The delinquents have had four months in which to make returns.

New Member of Iron Mountain and Missouri Pacific Directorate Is 22 Years Old.

Kingdon Gould, 22 years old, elder son of George Jay Gould, president of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railroad systems, was elected Tuesday to the boards of directors of the two roads. The annual meeting of stockholders and election of directors took place at the company's offices in the Missouri Pacific Building.

SIXTIETH CONGRESS COST THE COUNTRY ABOUT $15,000,000

Salaries, Mileage and Other Expenses of Members Will Aggregate Nearly $10,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—A low estimate of the cost of the Sixtieth Congress places it at $15,000,000. The salaries, mileage, clerk hire and stationery allowances of the 92 senators and 391 representatives alone aggregate about $10,000,000. To this must be added the pay for the army of clerks, doorkeepers, janitors, messengers, elevator men, stenographers, pages and other employes. The cost of maintaining the Capitol—fuel, janitor service, watchmen, policemen and a thousand other expenses—must be added. The enormous printing bill also goes into the calculation.

For this the American people get 350 public bills through Congress. The most important, the emergency currency bill, will be about the only one remembered. The penal code was the work of two congresses.

During both sessions Congress considered about 38,000 bills—9541 introduced in the Senate and 28,441 in the House. Twenty-six omnibus claim bills carried private pensions and other claims to the number of 3389.

Unballable Prisoner.

"Why did you not bail him out?" inquired a bystander of a friend.

"Bail him out!" exclaimed the other. "Why, you couldn't pump him out."

HUSBAND BEGINS SECOND SUIT FOR LOSS OF HIS WIFE'S LOVE

First Action for Damages Dismissed After Couple Had Become Reconciled.

Simon N. Falder, proprietor of a business college at 505 Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, filed another suit for $20,000 damages Monday in the St. Louis Circuit Court against Oscar F. Wagenmann of 818 North Jefferson avenue, alleging alienation of the affections of Mrs. Gussie Falder. A similar suit against Wagenmann was dismissed by Falder following a reconciliation with Mrs. Falder. The first suit was filed in October, 1907.

In the second suit Falder asserts that he and his wife made up in June, 1908, and continued to live together until October, when they separated again because Wagenmann renewed his attentions. It is alleged the defendant gave her presents, and has been providing for her maintenance.

Mrs. Falder lives at 3951 Gamble street. She and Falder were married May 24, 1907. Falder is represented by Attorney Bohnenkamp.

Prepares Him for the Worst.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

"Doctor," the patient begged, "let me know the worst. I insist on it."

"Well, if you will have it, I suppose I may as well tell you. It is my opinion that you will live to have to explain to your wife how it happened that you were in an automobile with three chorus girls, 27 miles from home, at 1 a. m."

JUDGE O. D. JONES LOSES SUIT AGAINST POST-DISPATCH

Jury Deliberates but 10 Minutes in Action for Damages Against Paper.

A verdict in favor of the Post-Dispatch was returned in the Circuit Court at St. Charles, Mo., Monday night in the case of Judge Orville D. Jones of Edina, Mo., against the Pulitzer Publishing Co., which had been on trial since Friday.

Judge Jones sued on account of the publication of proceedings in the divorce suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Jones against him, which was tried in the Circuit Court of St. Louis in June, 1906.

The verdict of the jury was unanimous on the first ballot, taken within ten minutes after they retired to their room.

This was the second suit brought by Judge Jones against the Post-Dispatch. In the first, filed at St. Louis, he sought to recover $150,000, on six separate counts. That case was tried before Judge Taylor. The Judge threw out two of the counts. The case went to the jury on the other four counts and the verdict was for the Post-Dispatch.

In the suit filed at St. Charles Judge Jones asked $100,000 damages, on four counts. Before the end of the trial, the plaintiff's attorneys voluntarily dismissed two of the counts. The jury disposed of the other two.

In both decisions the fact was recognized that a newspaper has a right to publish fair and unbiased accounts of proceedings in court.

Infantile Paralysis Cured By The Great Abdominal Treatment, Teleconi

EFFECT ON MINISTER'S CHILD CREATES SENSATION

James Austin Larson's Teleconi treatment, without medicine or surgery, seems to be particularly adapted to troubles arising from deranged digestion, constipation and torpid livers. In the case cited below from Minneapolis paralysis followed stomach trouble and the successful outcome demonstrates Teleconi 'ssuccess. Callers to the Planters Hotel to see about Teleconi can avoid confusion by going direct to the elevator and ask for Suite 304.

The Press dispatch follows:

Elliot Backlund, a child of thirteen months, son of the Rev. J. O. Backlund, editor of the Minneapolis Baneret, was deprived of the use of his limbs by paralysis last summer. Last evening the little one was showing little signs of the disorder which a few weeks ago had apparently marked it for the doom of a paralytic.

James Austin Larson, Suite 304, Planters Hotel:

The recovery of the child is credited by the Rev. Backlund to the treatment given the baby by James Austin Larson. The affair has occasioned no end of interest in the neighborhood of the Backlund family at 1311 Adams street northeast, and there have been many sympathetic callers. The prominence of the family and the high personal standing of Mr. Backlund, who is a graduate of Chicago university and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, a Greek letter society, whose membership is based on scholarship, bids fair to make the case to be talked about as much as was the case of Lolita Armour, daughter of the head of the great packing house, whose successful treatment by the famous Dr. Lorenz of Vienna attracted world-wide attention a few years ago.

Rev. Mr. Backlund sat in the little parlor of the home which has been again restored to happiness, and talked very frankly about the matter. He is not a man who would be influenced by anything other than what would appeal directly to his reason. He states things as he sees them and, while very grateful and at times much moved in talking about the little one, is not given to enthusiasms. The mother of the baby was a sympathetic listener, nodding her approbation as the minister told the story to a reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune.

"The trouble began last summer with an affection of the stomach," said Mr. Backlund. "The child was unable to take food, and there was a failure of nutrition. I know nothing of the processes by which the disorder progressed, but I was very much alarmed when it took the form of paralysis. We did everything ordinarily possible, but the paralysis extended to all the limbs and the right side was particularly affected. The little boy, who had been very sturdy, became much emaciated and helpless. I cannot tell you how much we were distressed. One who has had a beloved child so stricken and has seen it wasting day by day might appreciate our feelings. We were almost in despair of human skill to help the baby until a month ago.

"Then I heard of James Austin Larson. I was not sanguine about results, but I was told of some things he had accomplished in cases where the cause of diseased conditions was obscure, and we took Elliot to him a month ago. You see the result."

The mother's eyes glistened as she indicated with maternal pride the healthy looking little chap—utterly helpless a month ago, now able to sit up. The little face was filled out, the form sturdy and the movements quite free from restraint, though the right leg offered some suggestion of what the trouble had been, for the little one had not yet got used to moving it with freedom—which was obviously the consequence of disuse of the member.

"When I saw Mr. Larson and put the case in his hands I was not at all influenced by anything he said to me which was not entirely rational and sound in principle," continued Mr. Backlund. "He made no claims which did not appeal to my reason. The little one was suffering from paralysis, which was the consequence of malnutrition. Mr. Larson took the child and has succeeded in restoring its health by inducing the blood to circulate as it should to all the parts. That in brief, is what he did.

"As to how it was done I am not so sure. I am aware of the fact, now generally recognized, that there is a force which is present in individuals, in some not defined or controlled, in others, as in the case of Mr. Larson, highly and potently developed. I take it that there is something of this force exercised in such treatment as was given the child. I cannot speak as to methods, but I am not blind as to the results. The child recovered the use of its limbs and took on the health that is possible only with complete circulation of the blood. The outcome of the treatment given by Larson is so obvious in the case of our child that it speaks for itself and I am at once grateful for and appreciative of the capacity of Mr. Larson."

A well-known Scandinavian minister who lives in the Backlund neighborhood said that he knew of the case and had had his attention called to the remarkable cure that had been effected. With the general indisposition of men of his cloth to refrain from publicity, the clergyman declined to permit his name to be used, though he was much impressed by what he had heard of the case.

Albert Larson, who lives just across the street from the Backlund house, said he knew the Backlunds very well and knew of the condition of the little one a month ago and knows it now. He had been much impressed by the cure that had been effected. Other neighbors were quite as well informed, and the case of little Elliot Backlund and his recovery is furnishing a nine days' wonder for the neighborhood.—Adv.

MISS DIEKMANN IS OPERATED ON, RECOVERY NOT EXPECTED

Piece of Bone Is Removed From Temple of Schoolteacher Who Shot Herself.

A section of bone was removed Tuesday from Miss Paula Diekmann's temple, beside the wound made when she attempted to end her life with a revolver the night of Feb. 6 at the home of her uncle, Rudolph Schulenburg, 3535 Victor street.

The operation was considered necessary to save the girl's life. It was performed at St. Anthony's Hospital by Drs. F. Kolbenheyer and W. D. Aufderheide, who say Miss Diekmann's chances are against recovery.

Several days after the wound was inflicted Miss Diekmann rallied, and strong hope for her recovery was entertained. During the last week her condition has grown steadily worse, and at times she is delirious from fever. When fully conscious she is courageous and hopeful, those in attendance say.

The attempt at suicide was explained as due to suggestion, Miss Diekmann having been a friend of Earle Courtney, who shot himself to death.

HARRIMAN GAVE BEGGAR DIME, WANTS TO HELP HIM FURTHER

Trainmen Searching for Man Who Said He Was Injured in Railroad Employ.

TUCSON, Ariz., March 9.—A beggar to whom E. H. Harriman gave a dime while here last Thursday, is being sought by railroad detectives under instructions from Mr. Harriman, who is now in Sinaloa, Mexico. Trainmen have been instructed to be on the lookout for the man, whose description has been telegraphed to all points along the line.

While Mr. Harriman and a party of friends were talking on the depot platform the beggar approached him and told a story about being crippled while in the service of the Southern Pacific. Railroad men say Mr. Harriman's interest was aroused, and that he decided to assist the man if he could be found.

GIRL HAS TONSILITIS, BUT SURGEONS REMOVE APPENDIX

She Would Have Had Appendicitis, Anyway, It Was a Fortunate Mistake, They Say.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 9.—Rose Cohen, an 8-year-old girl, is convalescing in the Harrisburg Hospital after having been operated on Sunday for appendicitis by mistake. The child and her 11-year-old brother were sent to the institution suffering with enlarged tonsils.

In some unexplained manner the girl was given an anesthetic and her appendix was taken out. The surgeons say that the appendix was somewhat inflamed and they did not discover their mistake until the parents called.

The humorous feature of the case is the assertion that the condition of the little girls' appendix showed that she would have developed appendicitis any way and that the operation, therefore, was a fortunate mistake.

OAK SCARCITY THREATENS THE WHISKY TRADE

Shortage of Wood for Barrels Will Increase Cost of Liquor, Say Coopers.

COOPERAGE MEN MEET

National Association Alarmed at Probable Effects of Deforestation.

According to members of the National Coopers' Association, in convention at the Southern Hotel, prohibition is not the only menace threatening the whisky consumer. Whisky is considered fit to drink only after it has been aged and colored in oak barrels. Whisky chars the interior of the barrel and gets its fine color from the process.

Oak timber is becoming so scarce that in a few years there may not be enough left to barrel the whisky manufactured and consumed in the United States. No other barrel properly answers the purpose for aging and coloring whisky.

The price of oak lumber has increased more than 70 per cent in the past six years. As it continues to advance in price the price of whisky will have either to go up or the consumer's whisky glass will have to be decreased in size.

Whisky and prohibition are only incidental features of the convention. The timber question is regarded by the coopers as of far greater importance. Many of the leading cooper manufacturers are active prohibitionists and local optionists.

The convention was called to order at 10 a. m. by W. Palmer Clarkson of St. Louis, the president. The coopers hold all their annual conventions in St. Louis and local men usually hold the important offices. The secretary is F. J. Benner of the Union Cooperage Co.

Mr. Clarkson said the waste incident to the use of oak timber is enormous, fully 30 per cent of the trees being left in the woods. He urged the association to take some action toward the utilization of the waste timber. He declared that the association should also work with the Government for the conservation of our forests.

Mistake to Fight Railroads.

Mr. Clarkson said it was a mistake to fight the railroads. He said better results could be obtained by co-operating with them, as the railroad men have been brought to a state of mind where they are willing to hear the shippers' side of the question.

Papers on Forestry will be read by Henry Herget of Peoria and Walker Welford of Memphis, and a paper prepared by M. D. Welch of Omaha, who is in California, will be read by the president. Mr. Welch has made an exhaustive study of the timber question, and he will present the result of his investigation of reforestration in the West.

The possibilities of the eucalyptus tree, which, in a few years, grows large enough to be utilized for lumber, will be thoroughly discussed by Mr. Welch.

The convention will adjourn Thursday. The "Camp Followers," an organization composed of men dealing in cooperage accessories, will give a banquet Wednesday evening, to which all visitors are invited. Edgar H. Defebaugh, publisher of the "Barrel and Box," is president of the "Camp Followers."

6075 PEOPLE ON A STAGE! OVER A MILLION PEOPLE IN THE AUDIENCE!!!

Six thousand and seventy-five of the best people hereabouts and elsewhere on this glorious Northern Hemisphere, within the bounds of ocean and ocean east and west and great lakes and gulf north and south, assembled by proxy Sunday last in the great Want Directory published with the Sunday Post-Dispatch and made short "talks" to an audience of over a million people.

In other words, 6075 men, women, boys and girls advertised in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch—444 more than a year ago. An increase of 8 per cent. Isn't that increase a substantial indication of the approach of spring—of the upward tendency of things—of more business—of better times?

Now, while the great Sunday Post-Dispatch contained 6075 advertisements, how many do you suppose were printed by all the other St. Louis Sunday newspapers combined that same day? 5749! That is, the Sunday Post-Dispatch contained 326 more than all of the others added together.

One more point: While the Sunday Post-Dispatch showed a gain of 8 per cent, the others combined showed a loss of 173 ads. But don't let's talk about that. It's possibly bad taste—and every effort must be made here not to spoil the good taste that should come with the thought that the great Sunday Post-Dispatch, the barometer of the times in all things, by its splendid growth in advertisements indicates that things are well and up and doing and waving a big star-spangled banner to Miss Prosperity to "come!"

Polly Buried in Family Lot.

From the New York Press.

Sugar Loaf, the parrot of J. Le Favre Bradley, had a funeral at Plainfield, N. J., Wednesday, much like that of a human being. In a handsome coffin lined with silk, and covered with cut flowers, Polly was buried in the Bradley family plot, next to the grave of Bradley's father.

HUNDREDS SEE MAN DROP 4000 FEET TO DEATH

Young Aeronaut Loses His Life Falling With Parachute.

WAS 20 YEARS OLD

Aerial Machine Became Unmanageable at the Exhibition.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., March 9.—While hundreds watched his frantic efforts to control a great balloon which was swiftly bearing him out over the Pacific Ocean, yesterday afternoon, Lester Elkins, an amateur aeronaut, 20 years old, soared 4000 feet into the air before he cut loose his parachute and dropped into the waters of the outer harbor to his death.

As the stiff wind carried him out to sea, boatmen hastily left the inner harbor in launches to rescue him, but owing to the high wind, their efforts were useless.

As the huge bag arose it careened and was carried rapidly out over the water. Elkins tried desperately to guide it back to the land by swinging from the bar below, but soon the balloon was far out to sea. The parachute filled after he had fallen a short distance, but was caught by the wind and carried still further out and fell in the ocean a mile beyond Dead Man's Island.

Elkins came to California a few months ago from San Antonio, Tex., where his mother now lives. His body has not been recovered.

FLOOD DRIVES A DOZEN FAMILIES OUT OF HOMES

River des Peres Again Goes on Rampage in the Night.

The rapid rise of the River Des Peres early Tuesday caused homes to be hastily abandoned by a dozen families living in an area of six blocks in the vicinity of Ellendale, Hermitage and Queen avenues, in the extreme southwest part of the city. Two families were unable to get out in time and are marooned in their homes with the water over the floors.

John Lyle, a negro, and his daughter, Mary Thirsty, and the latter's five small children, living at 2761 Hermitage avenue, and Burt Gorham, also a negro, and his wife and three children, living 2740 Hermitage avenue, are in the homes, and none of the neighbors have ventured across the water to aid them. As the water is falling, they expect to remain in their homes until they can get out without danger.

The neighborhood was startled early Tuesday by several shots fired by Lyles. Birney Wilson, a motorman living at 2734 Hermitage avenue, called to him and asked the trouble. Lyles called back that he needed help, as the water was up the beds in his one-story home. There were no boats in the vicinity, and no teamster would attempt to drive through the water.

Hurried to Neighbor's Home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Birtley of 2726 Hermitage avenue, awakened by shots, found the water up to their porch. They left hurriedly and spent the remainder of the night with neighbors on higher ground.

Other families left their homes when they realized the water was rising rapidly. The water was falling Tuesday morning after daylight, and it is believed there is no further danger.

Three years ago the same district was flooded by a sudden rise of the River des Peres, and several families were rescued by mounted policemen, who rode into the water and carried persons out of their homes.

Musician In Form After Long Illness

Harry F. Hamilton, a well-known musician living at 234 East Fifty-ninth street, New York, who for several years past has suffered from a complication of ills, has recently been restored to his former good health. Mr. Hamilton attributes his recovery to the celebrated Cooper preparations which are now being demonstrated to the public in this city. In speaking of his experience Thursday, Mr. Hamilton said:

"Some years ago I experienced trouble with my stomach. At first I paid little attention to it, thinking it was only of a temporary character and that it would soon pass away. But it went from bad to worse, and as I was traveling over the country at the time, eating here, there and everywhere, at any and all hours, the irregularity of my habits had a tendency to aggravate my condition.

"My digestive organs became impaired; there was a feeling of heaviness after eating, accompanied by an accumulation of gas that was very oppressive and painful, causing my heart to palpitate like a trip-hammer. Then my kidneys became affected and I experienced great pain in my back. To cap the climax, I suffered an attack of rheumatism, and from that time on I was in constant pain and never felt well.

"I consulted doctors in all of the larger cities, among them some of the most eminent men in the profession, but their treatment did not help me. I also tried numerous remedies that were recommended by friends, but all to no purpose. I grew steadily worse, with no prospect in sight for relief. Then the Cooper preparations were brought to my attention, and I procured a treatment of Cooper's New Discovery. I was as much surprised as any one could be at its effect upon my system.

"I make no exaggeration when I say that this Cooper medicine gave me the first relief I had been able to get. In a remarkably short time I began to rest easier and felt better in every way. By the time the treatment was exhausted I was entirely well. My rheumatism had disappeared and my stomach gave me no trouble whatever. My friends can scarcely believe their eyes when they see me, and I myself can hardly realize that it is true. I am back in form again and ready for work. Cooper's New Discovery is the most remarkable medicine I ever heard of."

Cooper's New Discovery is now on sale at leading druggists everywhere. It has made a wonderful record. If you cannot obtain it from your local druggist notify The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

SKYSCRAPER HOTEL, ROBBED 6 TIMES IN 5 MONTHS, RIGS UP SEARCHLIGHT ON ROOF

If Thirteenth-Story Workers Evade Light They Will Face Shotgun.

NEW YORK, March 9.—On the roof of the Hotel Patterson, 50 West Forty-sixth street, every night is a grim-faced man, armed with a double-barrelled shotgun and carrying a searchlight.

At frequent intervals the man "zig zags" the powerful light over the roof and down the sides of the hotel.

The searchlight man is waiting for burglars. If they get past his light they will have to face the artillery.

Six times in the last five months the Hotel Patterson has been invaded by marauders, who have made off with $10,000 worth of jewelry and other belongings of the guests. The latest visit was three weeks ago.

On each visit the burglars have crawled up the fire escape on the western side of the 13-story hotel, making it easily from the roof of an adjoining residence. They pried open windows of guests' rooms on every floor from the fourth up to the top.

The burglaries have all been committed at night, while the guests were at dinner or out spending the evening. Hence the nightly watch.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became affected by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who left medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I thought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhoff, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 13, 1908."

I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I read of the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 6th St., Woodside, Long Island, N. Y., May 21, 1908."

SWINDLERS USE FORGERY TO GET MISSOURI CASH

One Man Convicted and His Companion Forfeits $13,500 and Disappears.

PLAN WAS ELABORATE

Several Western States Believed to Have Been Worked by Chicago Crooks.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Federal secret service detectives are searching in Chicago today for W. I. Bulwaire of Stanberry, Mo., who has forfeited bonds of $13,500 following an indictment on a charge of using the mails to defraud in a swindle and forgery scheme. Samuel Marks of this city, his accomplice, has been convicted on a similar charge.

Not only did the men sell forged mortgages on the new county infirmary site at Oak Forest, but it is said they have sold fraudulent mortgages on other valuable real estate in Cook and Du Page counties, Illinois, particularly in Wheaton. These mortgages are believed to have been sold in Oklahoma, Tennessee, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

J. V. Clinnin, Chief Deputy Recorder, who was summoned as a witness in the trial of Marks, says the defendant was sentenced to 13 months in prison, and that Bulwaire, who was indicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud, forfeited bonds of $13,500 and is thought to be in hiding in Chicago.

Marks is believed to be well connected in a business way in this city, and it is also believed that his divorced wife is living here. Mr. Clinnin has been asked by the Prosecuting Attorney of Buchanan County, Mo., where Marks is yet to be tried on 14 other criminal charges, to find her.

Frauds Amounted to $20,000.

It is estimated that fraudulent mortgages amounting to $20,000 were sold on the Infirmary site which was sold to Cook County by Conrad Buss July 18, 1908. The frauds were discovered through a letter addressed to County Recorder Davis some time ago by E. W. Buser of Dawson, Neb., who says he purchased $4000 worth of mortgage bonds on property that proved to be the Infirmary site.

On the forgeries appears the seal of Austin M. Lake, who, before his death in Oklahoma in 1893, had been a notary public in Stanberry, Mo. The forged recorder's certificates of Cook and Du Page Counties bear the name of T. J. White, Recorder.

DAUGHTER OF AMBASSADOR WHITE ENGAGED TO A COUNT

Miss Muriel White, It Is Reported, Will Wed a Wealthy Silesian Nobleman.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, March 9.—Miss Muriel White, daughter of Henry White, the American Ambassador at Paris, is engaged to marry Count Serth Josch, a wealty Silesian nobleman and a Roman Catholic. So it is rumored in diplomatic circles and so the Post-Dispatch correspondent is informed.

Miss Muriel White has frequently been reported engaged in the different capitals whose society she has adorned since she made her debut a few years ago. Some of the men named as having won her affections are Marshall Roberts, son of the late Marshall O. Roberts of New York City; Austen Chamberlain, Joseph Chamberlain's son; Lord Willoughby Deeresby, Lord Howard de Walden, Reginald Ward, whose brother, John Ward, married Miss Jean Reid, and an Italian nobleman of wealth and distinction.

Miss White is a pretty young woman, with light hair, blue eyes and a rounded figure. In London she was a favorite with the royal princesses. There she was bridesmaid at the wedding of Lady ("Peggy") Primrose and the Earl of Crewe. She has been presented at the English and Italian courts.

Miss Muriel's mother was Margaret Stuyvesant Rutherford, belonging to an old New York family. Her brother was the present Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt Sr.'s first husband.

Wherever he has represented his country, Mr. White's entertainments have been splendid. He has been in the diplomatic service since 1883. He has been secretary of the embassy at London, Ambassador at Rome, and is now Ambassador at Paris. Born in Baltimore, he claims Newport as his residence. He crossed the Atlantic to vote for Mr. Taft.

NEGRO AND WIFE SMOTHER TO DEATH IN THEIR HOME

William Calhoun, a negro, 32 years old, and his wife, about the same age, smothered to death in their home, a one-room shanty in the rear of 721 Morgan street, early Tuesday.

Their deaths were caused by a slow fire, which started in their bedding, the police believe, from the butt of a cigarette.

The bodies were found by M. Rubin of 613 Morgan street, whose attention was attracted by the smoke. He investigated and found the dead man and woman lying in their smoldering bedclothes. The interior of the shanty was thick with the smoke.

NERVOUS IRRITATION

is not always due to business conditions. The man who starts the day right with a cup of the proper kind of coffee finds less to worry about than many of the other fellows. The proper kind can be made only from "Puri-tan-ated", and the reason is that this is the brand which consists of the best coffee procurable, from which has been extracted and discarded the useless, harm-doing cellulose tissue, the part of the berry that contains a large amount of a form of tannic acid which is precipitated the minute it comes in contact with boiling water and thus freed acts harmfully upon the nerves and stomach. Buy "Puri-tan-ated" and you will get the most delicious coffee you have ever drunk, and at the same time the kind that has been rendered harmless, the "fang" having been extracted.

TAKING TRAINING LIFE QUIETLY AND McALEER WILL LET HIS VETERANS TRAIN AS THEY LIKE

TENPIN SPORT

McALEER'S MEN REMOVE KINKS BY HARD WORK

Harry Howell's Arm Not So Badly Strained As Was at First Reported.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 9.

A TEXAS norther descended upon Houston last night soon after the baseball players from St. Louis had retired for the night. It came after a hot and dreary day and the wind whistled through the windows, causing orders for more blankets, hot water and steam heat. Needless to say, such things were not to be had, in a hotel packed full of convention people, so the athletes had to shiver through the night.

A Texas norther does not always mean that it is very cold, but it does mean that a chilling wind blows through one just as freezing weather is felt in St. Louis. It may retard the work of the players for a day, but it is expected that by tomorrow the sun will be burning down again and the air will be as that of summer.

Jimmy McAleer's training methods are almost opposite to those of Roger Bresnahan. However, there is a reason for that. McAleer has a team made up for the most part of veterans who have been in the game so long that they know exactly how to condition themselves. Bresnahan has a squad of boys, few of them having had more than a year or two experience in the big league and he has to direct them in every move. They are lost without a head, while the Brownies can be trusted to go along by themselves.

Old players such as are on McAleer's team need time to work into shape. They must take things rather easy at the start and gradually work up to the form necessary to play winning ball in the big league. Bresnahan's youngsters need lively play every day and must keep it up until beginning time in order to get class enough to compete with the big clubs of the National League.

There is little that McAleer can tell the Browns about playing baseball. They know just about as much as he does. On the contrary, Roger Bresnahan can tell the Cardinals something new every day from now until April 14 and still they will have lots to learn.

The Browns were booked for but one practice today and that in the morning. In the afternoon the Houston club and another local club are to play an exhibition game and will need the grounds.

Browns' Manager Lets Veterans Train Themselves as They Like

"WE'LL go along easily for awhile at least and I don't expect to tell many of the players what to do. What would be the use of my telling a fellow like Bill Dinneen or Bobby Wallace how to get in shape? I guess Bill knows more about pitching than I do and Beb certainly knows more about playing shortstop. Jack Powell does not need any one to tell him what to do. I'll just let these fellows set their own pace, and I think they will show up in condition when they are needed. Of course the younger fellows will need some instructions in the game and we'll keep them busy. But I'm not going to bother my head about these old fellows. All I will look out for is that there is not a loafer on the team. I can stand for anything else.

"We've got more time to get in shape than we had last year. I can't say that we'll even work every day. I want to make this spring training trip as beneficial as possible, but I think it will be a good thing if some day we all take a day off and go fishing. Then we might follow that with two or three days of hard work and then ease up a little again."

In spite of McAleer's easy methods of training the boys took a stiff workout for their first day in the training camp. Many of them were sore because of playing the two games up at Dallas and Ft. Worth and wanted to work it out. The afternoon was hot but cloudy and a driving rain finally put a stop to the work. But the men all jogged the mile back to the hotel and were then eager for the bath and rub down under the direction of Trainer Quirk.

Lou Criger has lost his Boston uniform on the trip down here, but he was togged out with the one worn by Charley Jones last season, and was on the ground doing as much work as any of them. He worked for 20 minutes with the infield, and it was enough to make the heart of any St. Louis fan glad to see the ease with which he shot the ball around. He is in unusually fine shape for the early work and he's sure to have a great season barring accident.

Harry Howell thought he had injured his arm in the Saturday's game at Dallas, but he worked it out gradually yesterday, and before the practice was over, was shooting the ball. He thinks he will be ready in a few days.

Barney Pelty looks as good as any man on the squad right now. For a long time last winter it was doubtful if he would be retained on the club. But McAleer always insisted upon it, for he knows the value of this pitcher when in condition, and he said today he would not be surprised to see Barney Pelty taking a regular turn in the box this summer.

NOT MERELY SPRING BLOOMER'S, LET'S HOPE

WRAY'S COLUMN.

DODE CRISS provoked a most terrible tempest in a teapot when he insisted that it is worth $4000 to a baseball team to have a man who can be inserted into the scheme of things in a baseball game and slip in a basehit when everyone else has hung out the quit sign. Dode wanted to play that role for Manager McAleer, who said him NAY in large capitals.

Returns from 98 counties submitting opinions last night showed that Criss was running ahead of the ticket, on sentiment.

One McAleer ballot appended the belief that if Criss were worth $4000 Ty Cobb would approximate a mere trifle of $32,000 annually for coming to the plate alone. In reply it might be stated that it would be impossible for Tyrus to come to the plate with a chaperon, seriatum or otherwise than alone. Criss might come in bulk, so to speak.

CRISS is certainly not worth $4000 for what he can do, as compared to standards that govern other baseball players. In the first place, Criss is not a baseball player, but a freak, unclassified. His utility consists in his ability to slip into the game at the psychic moment and convert doubt into victory. He can be disposed anywhere along the batting order, at any time during the game when the moment seems ripe or the batsmen unable to hit. He is the regiment in reserve when other resources have been exhausted.

Not Many Like Him.

As such he can not be measured by ordinary standards of worth. His is a peculiar faculty—a most rare one, that of being able to hit hard and consistently without playing regularly. Up to him the supreme responsibility is put and, needless to say on him the wrath of the manager in case of failure falls heavily. Call to mind, if you can, even one man in baseball kept on the bench for purely pinch hitting who ever went through a season, under foul strike rule and spitball conditions, who ever came within 50 points of Criss' percentage. The hypothetical gentleman never existed. Criss, if he can make good as a pinch hitter, should be paid as supplying the balance of power in critical games, not as a mere baseball player.

The thing that makes it impossible to pay Criss such a salary is the manifest injustice of it to other players, to the regulars who are in the field trying many times through a game what Criss is only asked to attempt once. He ought to be paid so much for each hit he makes when he is called into action. But with a pennant in sight and profits enough to build a new grandstand over and above 100 per cent on the capital stock, one might be excused for considering seriously the prospect of preserving to the team every atom of its strength, even at a bitter cost.

That coming battle between Joe Gans and the Briton will doubtless be alluded to as a study in black and White.

One Manager to Another.

FRANK CHANCE showed an appreciation of Roger Bresnahan's task when he said he did not see how anything could be hoped for from the 1909 Cardinals. St. Louis fans, when they measure Roger's work after the season is half gone, and find the club still dragging in the depths, ought to withhold judgment of Bresnahan as a manager. For oger has not the makings of a team, as yet. The youngsters are good and willing, but they have yet to show the class, with a few exceptions. Bresnahan himself will be about 30 per cent of the club's strength, with his wonderful base running and batting and his headwork behind the bat. But even a 30 per cent catcher can not uphold a team by himself.

Watch the Phillies.

WHILE everyone is wondering what team will win the American League's promising four-cornered race, it need not be overlooked that there is going to be a general engagement in the National. It is commonly believed that the conflict has already been reduced to a struggle between the New York and Chicago teams. This is not by any means a certainty. Pittsburg and Philadelphia, without the loss of any of the expected stars before the close of the season, will be most formidable factors. Last year the Pirates were within striking distance all season and finished with New York a fragment of the imagination behind Chicago. Philadelphia never attained its best playing form until too late to overcome the effect of its wretched start.

It is hard to see the Pirates outside of Hans Wagner and Tommy Leach, but one cannot overlook results. On these Pittsburg is always dangerous. Philadelphia seems a much more substantial team than that under Fred Clark's direction. It is solid throughout and if it does not cause a world of worry to the winner of the pennant race every student of baseball values will be astonished. Nearly all of the ante season speculation on the National race has, of course, given Chicago the favorite's post at 2 to 1. New York is 2½ to 1 and Pittsburg 7 to 2. Philadelphia is 5 to 1 and at any higher odds will get not a few sentiment followers.

MOTOR NEWS AND GOSSIP

By NELSON T. GUTELIUS.

Motorcycle Marathon Race.

The motorcycle Marathon and other races will surely be a great success at Palm Beach, Fla., March 16-20, as half a dozen entries were made yesterday, comprising the Indian, Curtiss, F.-N. and other makes of two-wheelers. Joseph Fogler, the famous six-day bicycle rider, is to try for a world's bicycle record behind an automobile, and he thinks he can do faster time than has ever been done in the world on a bicycle.

That Detroit is the "center of the world" of automobilia was officially recognized in the form of a resolution pessed by the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers on Wednesday. Mr. William E. Metzger of the E-M-F company, and who is a member of the executive committees of both associations, has left no stone unturned to insure the great automobile classic starting from Detroit.

New Member A. L. A. M.

The Hudson Motor Car Co. of Detroit, Mich., was admitted last week to membership in the Licensed Association. This is a new company organized for the purpose of producing a moderate-priced runabout. J. L. Hudson (from whom the car takes its name), a prominent capitalist of Detroit, is the president of the company. R. B. Jackson, formerly factory manager of the Olds Motor Works, and more recently general manager of the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., of Buffalo, is general manager and treasurer. George W. Dunham, who has resigned as chief engineer of the Olds Motor Works to take the position, is chief engineer of the new company. The new car has a four-cylinder engine, and will sell for less than $1000. Deliveries will commence during the 1909 season. The factory of the company is that formerly occupied in Detroit by the Northern Motor Car Co.

J. P. Trader, manager St. Louis branch of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., left last night for Kansas City, where he will attend the automobile show this week.

The Van Automobile Co. yesterday delivered to H. D. Harfield, president and manager of the Marquette Cloak and Suit Co., 1312 Washington avenue, a handsome 32-horsepower Marmon touring car. This car has registered 40 miles pe rhour on the second speed and 55 miles per hour on the first speed. It is furnished with the glass-paneled hood.

Portland Show Opened.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 9.—The first annual automobile show of the Portland Automobile Club opened last night. More than 100 cars of various makes, including gasoline, steam and electric and ranging in value from $600 to $8000, are on exhibition. Visitors from all over the Pacific Coast are on hand, and a number of drivers and demonstrators from Eastern automobile factories are on hand to show the fine points of the newest models.

Danny Goodman has at last secured that much-coveted Peoria match with Young Kid Farmer. He will also be lucky if he does not secure one of Farmer's murderous biffs right on the jaw.

MADDEN GETS $75,000 FOR SIR MARTIN AND EDWARD

NEW YORK, March 9.

THE sale of Sir Martin and Edward, the great 2-year-old colts of 1908, to Louis Winans of Brighton, England, has started, particularly in England, many conjectures regarding the price paid for them. Many amounts have been named, ranging from $50,000 to $65,000, with 10 per cent of the winnings this season. None of these guesses are correct. The actual price was $75,000. When Sir Martin and Edward passed muster a sight draft for $75,000 was handed to John E. Madden. Both are eligible to the Epsom Derby. Sir Martin is not entered in the Grand Prix, but Edward is. If either colt wins money this year Winans alone will collect, as Madden is in no wise interested in them.

Sport Happenings Told Briefly

Tobias M. Watkins, with a 226 score out of a possible 250, did the best work in the weekly shoot of the St. Louis Central Sharpshooters' Association on their range Sunday. William Roessler got the best total score, 1072.

The national cocked hat tournament matches on the Royal alleys last night resulted as follows: Hercules 4, Vulcans 1; Trojans 4, Spartans 1; Olympians 3, Meteors 2. Heintz of the Olympians averaged 86 4-5.

The De Soto-Olive Tenpin League teams bowled on the De Soto-Olive alleys last night, with the following results: McGrannahans 2, Blue Grass 1; Adams 3, Delmars 0; De Sotos 2, Fountains 1. Street of the Adams, with a 181 2-3 average, was high.

Miller and Robbe will meet in the handicap pool tournament match at Pesch's this evening. Last night Becker defeated McKie, 80 to 65.

Courtney and Thompson are scheduled to cross cues in the pool tournament match at the Royal this evening. Last night Hirsch defeated Burg, 100 to 74.

The Western M. A. track team won a dual meet from the Alton Y. M. C. A. at the Western M. A. gymnasium, Upper Alton, 64 to 16. The cadets won every event with the exception of the pole vault.

Not to be overlooked, though few critics seem to be giving it much attention, is the discussion between Jabez White and Joe Gans at New York next Thursday night. It is the general opinion that both of these once high-class fighters have been about finished. As each is about 35 years old, each must have slowed up materially. Still, it should be a pretty good contest, with the odds favoring the negro.

Out at Los Angeles they have found a long and rangy heavyweight named Dick Burns of Salinas, and they are trying to develop him. Young Burns is 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 198 pounds. He has had only nine fights, but has not yet been defeated, while recent wins over Terry Mustain and Battling Johnson, whom he stopped in two rounds, indicate rapid improvement. As California is simply insane to get a native son to the front again, it is a cinch that Burns will get a fair chance and a better show than would be possible in the East.

HARD BATTLE FOR J. PEZOLT

Amateur Boxers to Spar at South Broadway A. C. Saturday Night.

Jack Pezolt of the South Broadway A. C., and Marian Woodson of the Business Men's Gymnasium, are expected to furnish the feature bout of the second amateur boxing tournament of the South Broadway A. C., to be held at the club Saturday night.

Woodson is an aggressive, shifty, strong fighter, who has won quite a number of bouts recently. Pezolt was unbeaten as an amateur until he lost a decision to Oliver Kirk in his last bout. Pezolt is strong, and fights on the order of Battling Nelson. Woodson and Pezolt are about evenly matched, and the bout should be hot one from start to finish.

Tim McCarthy of the Business Men's Gymnasium will meet Tony Lobig of the South Broadway A. C. for the second time this year. The first time they met McCarthy knocked Lobig out with a pivot blow that was practically a lucky punch. Lobig is more clever than McCarthy, and if he can keep away from McCarthy's wallop, should be able to reverse the decision given against him at the B. M. G.

The other bouts on the card are: Jimmy Wildman, S. B. A. C., vs. A. Kenney, unattached, 100 pounds. Charles Katz, South Broadway A. C., vs. Bobbie Roberts, unattached, 118 pounds. Charles Dalwitz, Missouri A. C., vs. Earl Vandament, unattached. Fred Gilmaster, S. B. A. C., vs. J. C. Vickering, B. M. G.

Katz, who is a clever boxer, has been competing under the M. A. C. colors. He will, in the future, represent the South Broadway A. C. Harry Sharpe will referee the bouts Saturday night.

Jimmy Sheldon, athletic director of the Indiana University, says that the Hoosier College authorities are making an effort to sign Roach of Chicago as a coach of the 1909 baseball team.

New York Says Jeff Is Fit to Battle Johnson

NEW YORK, May 9.—James J. Jeffries can go into the ring tomorrow and whip all of the champion fighters, so-called, that live. That was the principal thing revealed at Blaney's Lincoln Square Theater last night, and when the crowd that packed the house to the dome realized the fine physical condition of the white man's bannerbearer, they fairly mobbed him for sheer joy.

At least 50 per cent of the men who pressed into the theater early in the night expected to see Jeffries big of girth, flabby of cheek and as heavy on his feet as a prize Norman. When those men saw Jeffries they were surprised, nay, astounded. They had heard so much of his great weight and immense measurements that they would not believe that he was in anything approaching normal condition.

But after three short—very short—bouts with his sparring partner, Sam Berger, and his exhibitions of gymnasium stunts, all doubts regarding Jim's condition faded away like smoke before a strong gale. He was the Jeffries of old—strong of limb, light of foot, and with the famous wallop which had sent many a fighter's championship aspirations rolling along on the padded ring.

That was what satisfied the crowd and they went home shouting: "Jeff is the Jeff of old, so look out, Mr. Johnsing."

The negro population of Galveston is making great preparations for entertaining Jack Johnson upon the champion's home coming next week. The white merchants of that city are contributing liberally, and the week's entertainments will represent an expenditure of about $30,000. A parade of colored organizations from several South Texas counties will be a feature of the program. An athletic entertainment in which white and black athletes will participate will be given, and on this occasion the new champion will give an exhibition and deliver an address. He will remain here about 10 days, visiting his mother and sisters.

JOHNSON WILL NOT KEEP JEFFRIES WAITING LONG

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 9.

JACK JOHNSON is more than ready to fight any one in the United States, according to a cable from Honolulu—in fact, is so anxious to fight that he will issue a sweeping defi when he arrives in his home country.

Johnson seems to be worked up over stories that have been published to the effect that he was dodging fights by staying away from the United States.

"When I get to the United States," he is quoted as having said, "the first question I am going to put to Jeffries is whether he wants to box or not."

CENTRAL HIGH TRACK TEAM TO OPPOSE Y. M. C. A. MEN

Nine events are on the program for the dual track meet between the Central Y. M. C. A. and Central High School teams, to be decided in the Central Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Efforts are also being made to bring the Central Y. M. C. A. and First Regiment track teams together for a dual meet in the near future.

The Central Y. M. C. A. has, up to this season, held quite a number of dual meets with St. Louis U. and other local institutions. The event Saturday night will be the first dual meet that the wearers of the Cherry Circle have taken part in this year. The program calls for: 25, 100, 220 and 440 yards dashes; [illegible] yards and one mile runs; 25 yards high and 25 yards low hurdles, pole vault, high jump, shot put and relay race.

SWACINA SIGNS CONTRACT WITH TRI-STATE CLUB

Harry Swacina, a well-known local ballplayer, who played first base for Pittsburg part of the time last season, has signed a contract to play with the Harrisburg club of the Tri-State League. Swacina is a good fielder and a fairly heavy batter. If he had not signed with Harrisburg he was to have been given a trial with the Cardinals.

S.S.S. NATURE'S CURE FOR BLOOD POISON

S. S. S. is known as Nature's Cure for Contagious Blood Poison because it is prepared entirely from the blood purifying and healing extracts of roots, herbs and barks taken directly from the natural forests of the land. It does not contain the least particle of strong mineral ingredients, and is so prepared as to aid in the upbuilding of every portion of the system, while driving Contagious Blood Poison from the blood. No unpleasant effects ever follow the use of S. S. S., such as stomach troubles, dyspepsia, mercurial rheumatism, etc., as is so often the case where other medicines are used. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and gently but surely, drives out every trace of the disease, cleanses and purifies the circulation, and by its fine vegetable tonic effects, assists the system to rapidly overcome the ravages of the disease, and regain its natural healthful condition. S. S. S. does not cover up or hide the symptoms for awhile, to break out later, but so thoroughly does it remove the cause that no signs of the trouble ever return. S. S. S., Nature's cure, is the surest and safest remedy for Contagious Blood Poison. Home Treatment Book with valuable suggestions and information, and any medical advice free to all who write.

LITTLE WIFE OF JEFFRIES DENIES SHE BOSSES HIM

Undefeated Heavyweight Is Not Man to Be Henpecked, She Says.

"FIGHT IF HE WANTS"

She Has a Lovely Home, but Wants a Baby to Make Her Life Ideal.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 9.—"All this talk about my 'bossing' my husband is perfectly absurd and ridiculous."

So spoke Mrs. James J. Jeffries, wife of the undefeated heavyweight champion of the world. The pretty little woman looked annoyed, as if she felt "too big to cry and too mad to laugh."

"Jim is not the man who would be henpecked, and I would not try to. The idea of their saying the reason he won't fight Johnson or anyone else is because I will not let him! I never interfere with my husband's business, and that is one of the reasons why we are so happy."

"Are you opposed to your husband fighting again?"

"He can do as he pleases about it. I will not try to influence him in any way. We never talk prizefight at home. Even among his men friends my husband does not like to discuss the fight game.

Opposite in Stature.

"We have a lovely home in Los Angeles; in fact, we have two, a ranch in the suburbs, and then the home in town, which Mr. Jeffries built and gave to me shortly after we were married. There is only one thing needed to make it ideal, and that is a baby. Some women think it hard because they have a family, but I think it very unfortunate because I have not."

The herculean prize fighter married a girl who is exactly his opposite in stature. When she stands beside her husband, Mrs. Jeffries reminds one of the saying:

'I wonder why the tallest man will go with the shortest girl?"

Mrs. Jeffries is a refined little woman. In high heels she stands 5 feet 2 inches. German by birth, she speaks with a slight accent, but is usually taken for French. Her voice is one of her chief charms, low and pleasing. Mrs. Jeffries is still in the twenties.

Changed His Habits.

Since his marriage the fighter has changed many of his habits, and this has led some of his friends to say his wife has accomplished this by putting her foot down, and not letting him go out, as he did in the old days before he was married.

"When you are fond of a person you want to do all in your power to please that one, and that is the way with my husband and me. He is very fond of his home, and likes to be there all he can. His friends are always welcome, and he likes to bring them in,' continued the little woman.

"When he wants to go out with his old friends, he will say to me: 'Well, I think I will go out with the boys tonight,' and I never say anything, for he is a reasonable man, and he does not often go. I am just like any other woman who thinks a great deal of her husband, and I would not like to have him away from home every night."

LESS HAIR REQUIRED WITH HATS SHOWN AT THE MODEL

The new spring hats from Paris and New York, showing the prevailing new style of more hat than ever before and permitting considerably less hair than has been considered proper for several seasons, are shown in great numbers in the new millinery department at The Model. The department was opened for the first time Tuesday morning.

The hats shown include hundreds of models imported from Paris, a large number from the most fashionable milliners of New York and many exquisite designs from the workrooms of The Model, which are in charge of the most experienced milliners.

Nearly all the new hats run more to crown and very little to brim, though the brim comes very low, almost touching the shoulders in the back and curving about so that it comes low on each side, but leaves the face perfectly clear. A very few French roses are popular as trimming.

From Joseph's there is a jet hat with much wider brim, though it also comes very low. It is trimmed with white plumes and red ribbons.

The Madame Louise, which has a very high crown; the Camille Rogers, which is three shades of blue and has width and not quite so much crown; the Georgette, a jet hat with very large quills and low brim, and the Madame Hugon are others of the very latest.

Crowds of women began visiting the millinery department early Tuesday. A music program was arranged for the afternoon, and the opening will continue Wednesday.

The millinery department is decorated in green and flowers set off by delicately colored electric lights.

When She Consults Him.
From the Washington Star.

"Does your wife ever take your advice about anything?" asked the impertinent relative.

"Certainly," answered Mr. Meekton. "She frequently consults me as to whether her hat is on straight."

BUTLER AND VALET FOUND GUILTY OF BANKER'S MURDER

Widow of Their Victim Creates Sensation by Dramatic Accusation in Court.

A CELEBRATED CASE

One Slayer Given Life Sentence and the Other Term of Twenty Years.

Special Correspondence From Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

Renard was sent to penal servitude for life, and Courtois for 20 years. On hearing the sentence Renard collapsed, but as he was being carried out by warders he recovered, and shouted, "Oh, those police! If I could I would tear out their eyes."

Several very interesting witnesses were heard at the Seine Assize Court toward the close of the trial. First in importance was Mme. Remy, the widow. When she was introduced the lady, who was her husband's junior by a score of years, advanced with slow steps, and was promptly accommodated with a chair, into which she sank. She was dressed in deep mourning. The entire assembly evinced its pity for her sad position by maintaining a respectful silence, not a whisper being audible. After an eloquent pause, the silence was broken by the presiding judge, who apologised for having asked her to attend. Would she kindly give an account of Renard, and explain how he had come to occupy such an influential position in her household? Mme. Remy replied in a very low tone of voice that she had had a high opinion of her butler.

Accuses the Butler.

"At different times he and his wife were most attentive, especially when my husband was ill. When I had to undergo an operation they looked well after me, and I thought that they were really devoted to us.

"Then occurred an incident which created an immense sensation. Turning toward Renard and pointing to him, Mme. Remy cried in a loud voice, "I have felt that it is he who killed. Yes, I am certain of it.' Renard did not utter a word in answer, but his expression showed that he had hard work to control himself. Continuing, Mme. Remy said:

"There had neved been any disagreement between my poor husband and myself. Apart from the little squabbles which occur in every household, we were very fond of each other. My poor husband! We could not live without each other. I miss him every day. It is incredible. I do not know how I can exist without him. How sorry I am that I went to our chateau. This would never have happened if I had remained in Paris. I reproach myself for it every day."

Maitre Lagasse, Renard's counsel, with kindly tact, refrained from putting any question to Mme. Remy, and she was rising to go when she cried, "You will avenge him?"

The Advocate-General delicately hinted that the question before the Court was one of justice, and not of revenge, and Mme. Remy, weeping bitterly, left amid the same deep silence as had prevailed when she appeared.

M. Remy was murdered in his bed during the absence of his wife from home. The valet made a confession implicating the butler, but the latter maintained his innocence to the last.

STRIKES TENANT IN MOUTH AND HIS HAND IS POISONED

Amputation Threatened When He Has to Go to the Hospital Twice.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 9.—John Birk, a Madison avenue saloon keeper, wishes now that he had not lost his temper a few weeks ago when he struck a tenant in the mouth. Birk is a patient at St. Vicent's Hospital under treatment for blood poisoning. For several days it was thought that his hand would have to be amputated.

Birk quarreled with a tenant who owed him rent. He struck the man in the mouth with such force that a big front tooth sank deeply into his hand. Three days later the hand began to swell, but was dismissed from the hospital when the hand began to swell again he was sent back.

HE BUYS NAPOLEON III'S BED

American Pays $5000—Castle's Pictures Sold.

PARIS, March 9.—The old castle of Etiolles, near Paris, which was the favorite residence of the Marquise de Pompadour, is being pulled down.

It harbored not only the Pompadour but also Napoleon III and the Empress Eugenie. The old furniture and pictures of the castle were sold, and brought enormous prices. Four armchairs went for $125.

Appetite Puts a Ban on Marriage.

LONDON, March 9.—"I attribute the falling off in marriages to general depression and the good sense of young men," said the Rev. F. Ogden, vicar of Holy Trinity Church, West Seaton. "They see that although the church tells them they are to be made one in marriage, two appetites cannot be satisfied as the cost of one." [illegible]

DETAILED ACCOUNT OF THE DAY'S TRADING ON WALL STREET

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NEW YORK, March 9.—Eighths and quarters measured the extent of the changes for the majority of prices in the opening quotation for stocks today. The amount of business done was also trivial. A rise of ⅜ in Wabash was the most conspicuous change.

Some of the stocks that were heavy at the outset went lower, particularly Reading and Amalgamated Copper. Purchases of the Western stocks then began on a rising scale and eventually all of the active stocks responded with a good rally.

Union Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern, Texas & Pacific and Erie first preferred advanced a point above yesterday's closing, before the market began to sag again.

The stock market was at a standstill between 12 and 1 o'clock. Colorado Fuel preferred sold at a decline of five points.

Bonds were firm.

The dullness of the market invited selling and prices declined. Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie declined 1⅛, Western Maryland and Amalgamated Copper 1⅜ and Reading, Kansas City Southern, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Interborough-Metropolitan preferred 1. Northwestern preferred also declined 4⅛. Bethlehem Steel preferred advanced 1.

Gold Shipped to Europe.

NEW YORK, March 9.—An engagement by the National City Bank today at the assay office for export to London of $1,420,000 gold marked the first actual transaction looking toward a movement of gold Europewards which has been forecasted by the recent rise in sterling exchange.

Speyer & Co. today engaged $100,000 in gold for Buenos Ayres.

St. Louis Money Market.

The very lowest rates at which St. Louis banks have put out money in the recent plethora were 3 to 3½ per cent for three and four months on the very best kind of collateral. Demand funds loaned at 3½ per cent in one or two cases, but the actual minimum on most of the paper presented was 4 per cent. The situation has not to any great extent altered this week and the way that reserves are accumulating will scarcely indicate any difference in the status for some time in the future.

RAILWAYS 4S ARE ADVANCED ON EXCHANGE

Gains Half Point Over Monday While the Preferred Is Unchanged.

Issues of the United Railways Co. were in good demand at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Tuesday. The preferred sold at unchanged prices, while the 4's were advanced ½ point above Monday's figures. A block of Missouri-Edison 5s sold at par. Bank of Commerce was firmer. Quotations in the miscellaneous list indicated a fairly strong market. Trading was much improved.

At a meeting of the directors of the Mechanics-American National Bank, held Tuesday, Jackson Johnson was elected first vice-president to succeed H. P. Hilliard, resigned.

L. A. Battaile was elected second vice-president. Julius Benninghaus was elected first assistant cashier, and a member of the Board of Directors, vice Wm. B. Becktold, deceased.

D'ANNUNZIO AND DUSE HAVE QUIT QUARRELING

Actress Will Again Appear in Role Created by Eccentric Genius, Formerly Her Lover.

ROME, Feb. [illegible].—Gabrielle D'Annunzio has completed a new drama. He has not yet given out the plot, but he says it is based on a story of old Greece. He admits that the story has been used by various writers.

The play is written especially for Elenore Duse, the well-known Italian actress, for whom he wrote most of his plays. For a long time Mme. Duse refused to appear in D'Annunzio's plays because of the personal quarrel. It is an open secret that they lived as husband and wife.

After the quarrel Mme. Duse said she could not produce his plays because many scenes were from their own lives.

The Italian critics are surprised that Mme. Duse has dropped the quarrel and are awaiting further announcements.

EXCITED WOMAN AT A PLAY DENOUNCES VILLAIN, DIES

Great Scene in "The Lyons Mail" Too Strong for Theater Attendant.

Special Correspondence From Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Feb. [illegible].—A woman attendant in the Theater Moliere, where "The Lyons Mail" was being played, died suddenly during the performance of over-excitement.

She was 47 and although she had been cloakroom attendant in the theater for some time, had not before had an opportunity of seeing the play.

During the great scene ending with the arrest of Lesurques, the woman, who was sitting in a back row, sprang to her feet, and shrieked aloud: "He is not guilty; it was another man who looked like him!" and fell dead.

BOND MARKET

Aside from the Argentine Government bonds, subscriptions for which were closed within a half hour, and the Southern Railway bonds, there were no important offerings. The bond market, following the inclination of the stock market, waited to see what effect Taft's inaugural address would have on investors. The address is regarded as more bullish for bonds than on stocks. One bond issue, of which an early announcement is expected, is the recently authorized Southern Pacific bonds. The Upstate Public Service Commission's refusal to modify the terms under which the Erie can offer a part of the $30,000,000 of bonds, for which it requested authority, may preclude an offering of them, as it will prove extremely difficult to gain the consent of 90 per cent of the bondholders. It may be that the Erie will struggle along on a lean purse, hoping to find some other means to raise what money it needs.

An issue of $2,000,000 6 per cent 30-year gold bonds was authorized by the directors of the American Type Founders Co. on Feb. 17. This issue is intended as a sinking fund to retire outstanding bonds of 1896, of which $800,000 remain outstanding, and to fund floating debts; $1,000,000 of the new issue will be offered to common stockholders at par, payable in 92 per cent cash, and 8 per cent scrip; $200,000 and such of the $1,000,000 offer as is not subscribed for, will be offered to subscribers at par, for cash.

The recent rumor that the Steel Trust will cancel its lease for the Great Northern Ore lands, a rumor that hit the trust certificates hard, has no foundation. The lease cannot be canceled before 1914, and until then the Steel Trust may need the ore badly. So far it has not mined a single ton of Messaba ore, although it had to make the stipulated annual payments, just as if it had mined the ore. What makes holders of the ore certificates feel uneasy is that no further dividend has been paid, although one of $1.50 has been expected since December.

TICKER TALK

NEW YORK, March 9.—Charles Head & Co. say: "Discrimination in commitments is advisable, the industrials being the heavy section of the list, but purchases of active issues on reactions for quick turns should prove profitable."

J. S. Bache & Co. say: "Shorts find it difficult to cover any large line of stock, and the general opinion among those bearishly inclined prevails that it is easier to sell stock in quantity than it is to buy. We believe that the market will improve later on, and advise purchases on any fair recessions from present levels."

H. L. Horton & Co. say: "We believe that in a broad sense the action of the market both before and since the inaugural address indicates very plainly a disposition on the part of the large financial interests of the country to await developments before taking a decided stand in the market one way or the other."

Coffee Market.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Coffee futures opened easy on poor cables, and after the start prices broke sharply, owing to selling pressure by longs, who were led to liquidate through a less confident feeling concerning the proposed imposition of an import duty on the staple. The long lines liquidated came on a market with few buyers. Bull support developed toward the close and prices recovered 5@10 points.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The local raw sugar market was again higher, with duty paid prices quoted as follows: Centrifugal, 96 test, 3.81½c; Muscovado, 89 test, 3.31½c, and molasses sugar, 89 test, 3.06½c. Sales were 10,000 bags Cuba centrifugal sugar at 2 13-32c c. i. f., immediately shipment, equal to 3.81½c duty paid. It was also rumored that sales for last half of April shipment had been made at 2¼c, cost and freight, equal to 3.88c duty paid.

London cables show that cane is firm, but little offering; Java, 11s. Beet is quiet, but steady; March, 10s 3d; April, 10s 3d; May, 10s 4½d.

Local refined sugars are quoted on the basis of 4.85c, less 2 per cent for standard granulated.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—The supply in the quarantine division amounted to 2000 head, thus exceeding the run of natives. It was a slow market, with prices steady to weak. Stock did not arrive promptly and this further tended to accentuate the draggy phase of trade. Texas steers sold mainly at $5.25 to $6, bulls at $4.15 and heifers at $5. Mississippi mixed stock brought $2.85 to $4.25.

BABY, "DEAD DRUNK," TUMBLES

Unhurt After Sampling Whisky and Falling Downstairs.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March [illegible].—A 14-months-old baby, falling down a flight of stairs, limp as a rag, unconscious when picked up, and believed to be dead, was pronounced by a physician to be "dead drunk." The baby belongs to a family named Ferguson, west of the city, and was in no way injured by the fall.

Investigation showed that the baby had been in the medicine closet and had spilled over the floor what whisky it did not drink. The infant was allowed to sleep, and in the afternoon had fully recovered.

60 DAYS FOR UMBRELLA THIEF

WEST CHESTER, Pa., March [illegible].—"Do you mean to tell the Court," asked President Judge Hemphill, in mock solemnity, of District Attorney Gawthrop, "that the theft of an umbrella is a criminal offense?"

"The defendant may tell your Honor for himself," replied the prosecutor.

Thereupon John Sweeney of Philadelphia, at the bar, took unwarranted assurance, and said: "No, you Honor; I was simply drunk—didn't know I had Prof. Addison Jones' umbrella at all, till I found it sticking out from under my arm."

"Sixty days!" said the Judge, without cracking a smile.

Engineer Stops Train to Be Shaved.

PRAGUE, March 4.—A train stopped abruptly a few miles outside the little station of Hergatz, Bohemia, and the passengers who alighted found the guard shaving the engine driver, who apologized for the delay, but explained that he was about to propose to the young woman in the refreshment room at the next station.

STRONG UNDERTONE IN WHEAT MARKET

Prices Recover Early Declines and Close Higher Under Aggressive Bull Support.

Nervousness was again the principal feature of the local grain market Tuesday, sharp initial declines being followed by good support and full recoveries. Although somewhat lower levels prevailed early in the day, there was a relatively steady tone, the big bull leaders showing a tendency to discredit the Government figures and to carry along their deals. The firm tone that developed late Monday would indicate that most of the weak holders have been eliminated and the powerful longs, who already show handsome "paper" profits, evidently intend to try to work prices up to still higher levels. May was under considerable general pressure, however, and there were occasional spurts of selling of other options, which kept prices at moderate declines during part of the forenoon, but they were boosted sharply later, the close being ¼c to ¼@⅜c higher for the day.

The market, during most of the session, was broad and active, there being a large general trade. The opening was weak, there being a liberal volume of selling at the start, based on the weak foreign markets and the aftermath of the previous day's very bearish Government figures. Further precipitation in the winter wheat belt make prospects even more promising and crop reports were of a uniformly favorable character. The wet weather tends to impede the movement, but its effect has not yet been felt, receipts in the Northwest and at winter wheat primaries being very large. There was little activity in the cash business, the flour trade was dull and practically no export demand was apparent. Stocks at most points are still decreasing.

There was a further increase in the European visible and the foreign crop outlook was about a standoff. Unsatisfactory conditions in the United Kingdom, Germany and France being offset by the good prospects elsewhere.

The initial pressure lasted for quite a while and prices suffered liberal declines. There was a quiet absorption of offerings by the bulls throughout, however, and when the selling subsided prices gradually worked up to near the closing levels of the previous day. The market continued nervous. Toward noon prices, excepting May, showed only small declines.

May wheat opened ⅝c lower, at $1.11⅜, declined to $1.11, recovered to $1.11⅝, declined to $1.10⅝, and recovered to $1.11½. July wheat opened ⅝c lower, at $1, fluctuated between $1 and $1.00⅞, declined to 99c and recovered to $1.00⅜. September wheat opened unchanged at 96½c, advanced to 96⅝c, declined to 96¼c, and was bid up to 96⅜@96⅝c.

Corn ruled firm and oats were inactive.

Bradstreet reports a decrease of 1,559,000 bu in wheat east of the Rocky Mountains, a decrease of 1,742,000 bu in wheat in Canada, an increase of 1,800,000 bu in wheat in Europe and afloat and a total decrease of 1,500,000 bu in the world's visible supply of wheat.

Liverpool cables on wheat closed ⅛d lower, and other European markets were also under pressure. The visible supply of wheat in Europe increased 1,776,000 bu and now amounts to 80,836,000 bu, compared with an increase of 300,000 bu last year, when 98,500,000 bu was in sight.

The cash demand at Minneapolis was rather slow and stocks there show an increase of 10,600 bu for three days. Minneapolis cars were 187, against 204 last year; Duluth, 182, against 56 last year, and Winnipeg, 226, against 181 last year.

FARMER GETS INTO TOWN WAYS, LOSING $700 AT POKER; SUES

He and His Wife Bring Action in Effort to Recover Former Wealth.

NEWCASTLE, Ind., March [illegible].—Alleging that $700, all the money they possessed, was lost over the gambling table, Charles Turner and his wife, Mrs. Rebecca Turner, have filed suit in the Circuit Court against James Griffin, John Lindamood, W. B. Runyan and Nicholas Essigner to recover the amount.

Turner was until a year ago a farmer, and moved to town. According to the complaint filed, he soon got into town ways, among them the habit of playing poker. The complaint charges that he lost the $700 in a room operated by the four defendants, between last September and last January.

The Court granted a restraining order preventing any of the defendants from disposing of property.

High School Pupils Objected to Superintendent's Speeches.

COLUMBIANA, O., March [illegible].—T. C. Orr, Superintendent of Public Schools of Columbiana, was tried before the County School Examiners on charges of using drugs, being untruthful and not being competent. Over 100 witnesses are subpenaed. It is claimed in the petition filed with the Examiners by the Rev. J. B. Manley, teachers and others, that Supt. Orr uses to excess a colic cure and has made several improper speeches before the entire high school. The petition asks for the revocation of Supt. Orr's certificate. The case is under consideration.

His Majesty sustained a sprain of the right hand, and apparently a fracture of the third metacarpal bone.

WOLVES MENACE THE FARMERS

MENLO, Ia., March [illegible].—Wolves are becoming a menace to the farmers of this community, and are killing poultry, sheep and calves. They are seen in great numbers north and south of town and make the nights hideous with their howling.

Henry Reese saw six on the Capt. Stuart ranch, north of town. Robert Paterson and Alex Moorehead have a large pack of hounds and have killed a great number.

NEW VAUDEVILLE OPENINGS

Bessie Clayton at the American—Six Blonde Typewriters at the Columbia.

The American Theater brought forth the third entry in the St. Louis terpsichorean handicap yesterday, Miss Bessie Clayton, and the new entry met with instant favor. Her special qualifications are that she has grace, nimbleness, variety and absolute cleanliness in her act, and does with equal skill everything from the dances of the nations to the skirt dance and the pas de deux.

Others on the entertaining bill are Edwin Lateil, in a merry monologue; Burnett and Major, in a novelty singing act; Bert Howard and Effie Lawrance, in "The Stage Manager," an entertaining act of music and comedy; Leo Donnelly, with experiences and recitations; Miss Ray Cox, with an act that stirs the baseball fans; Dickerson and Bronson, in feats of strength, and Thornton and Carleton in a comedy.

Youth and beauty is the distinguishing feature of this week's bill at the New Columbia Theater. It is led by Gus Edward's Six Blonde Typewriters, assisted by Arthur Conrad, in a one-act comedy that sparkles with music and merriment. A close second is Billy Gaston and Ethel Green, one of the cleverest young teams seen this season, in a Nell Brinkley creation of singing, dancing and comedy. The American Florence troupe has a number of remarkable young acrobats, and De Biere is a clever young illusionist.

Others in the bill are the Rosaires, slack wire artists; Eddie G. Ross, the dancing banjoist; Miss Felice Morris and company in a pleasing domestic playlet; Lizzie Daly in dances of the past and present, and the Kinodrome pictures of the West Indies.

BALDWIN WILL TAKE AIRSHIPS TO THE ARCTIC

Explorer and Scientist Hopes Fulton Flight Will Aid in Selection.

TO STUDY THE WIND

He Will Spend Three Years in the North Charting the Air Currents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Because he wishes to use an aircraft in connection with a unique scientific expedition, he will lead into the polar sea early next year, Evelyn B. Baldwin, the explorer, is awaiting the results of the Fulton flight contest of the World and Post-Dispatch with keen interest.

He is going to the Arctic regions to chart the navigable air areas and to solve some puzzling problems in atmospheric conditions which scientists think can be best cleared up by a series of observations above the polar sea.

To aid him in the work Mr. Baldwin believes there is nothing better than an air craft. He has been unable to determine which will be most useful for his purpose. For this reason he is waiting to see how the various kinds of aerial machines will compare in the race during the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Baldwin has used balloons on several of his expeditions and found them of great value.

Airships for Arctic Work.

"I most emphatically believe in airships as auxiliaries in the work of any scientific Arctic work," he said. "One of the principal purposes of my expedition will be to chart the air currents above the polar sea. Our knowledge of atmospheric conditions is merely rudimentary. We don't know about the conditions that exist over two-thirds of the earth's surface. Particularly should we understand the atmosphere now that this era of aerial navigation has come upon us. We need very definite information of that fluid above us, so that air sailors may be able to utilize it and make it serve them just as mariners dominate the sea.

"It will never be possible to obtain correct information to chart the air currents properly unless we go to the Arctic regions. In Arctic regions the explorer has always been able to do valuable work.

"It must be remembered that most of the meteorological observations there were simply a by-product. I intend to gather data that will be of use to the mariner and the aeronaut. I am a meteorologist and I have long foreseen that the day would come when voyagers of the air would want as accurate data about the fluid they sail in as the men who sail on the water.

Will Camp on Perpetual Ice.

"My plan is to force my ship into the ice pack north of Siberia. Then I will anchor in the pack and the ship will practically be frozen into the solid floe. It is a fixed law known to all Arctic explorers that an ice pack in this region gradually travels along a route that eventually brings it out into the open sea somewhere between Greenland and the coast of Norway. This current is as certain and immutably fixed as the rotation of the sun and stars.

"I will build a camp of portable houses on the ice, have a plentiful supply of dogs, casks of food and oil, and prepare the party for a slow trip of three and a half years before we see the open water again. During the drift I will send out my dirigibles or my aeroplanes in opposite directions simultaneously in order to make atmospheric observations and experiments. I will thus analyze the magnetic forces that we find so puzzling. I want to use the airship up there for purposes of observation, for quick relief work, in place of sledges—in fact, I want my wireless outfit and my aircraft.

"I believe that with my wireless I will hardly ever be out of touch of civilization, and with my aircraft I will be able to reduce greatly the use of dogs and sledges."

BANKERS IN PRISON FIND BIG DISCREPANCY IN ITS BOOKS

Accounts of Penitentiary at Pittsburg, Pa., More Than $26,000 "Off," It Is Said.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 9.—Convicted bankers, now prisoners in the Western Penitentiary here, have discovered an apparent discrepancy of more than $26,000 in the accounts of the penitentiary, and it is said the amount may be even larger. The Board of Visitors of the Western Penitentiary some time ago appointed Henry Reiber, formerly paying teller of the Farmers' Deposit National Bank, now an inmate of the penitentiary, to audit the books of the institution.

Finding an apparent discrepancy and being unwilling to assume all responsibility, Reiber secured the assistance of William Montgomery, former cashier of the Allegheny National Bank, and J. B. F. Rinehart, former cashier of the Farmers and Drovers' National Bank of Waynesburg, Pa., both convicts in the Western Penitentiary, who are said to have agreed with him in his findings.
